

City Hall Bids This July, Ray Says

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan addressed a meeting of the Rondout Advisory Board Thursday night and said he expected construction on a new city hall downtown to begin in August and completed by January, 1970.

According to a report by Joseph Babiarz, a member of the Rondout Board, Garraghan said he expected to have final plans for a city hall to accommodate a projected Kingston population of 50,000, completed by July and ready for bid.

Garraghan added that he would need nine votes from the Common Council to approve a bond issue for the construction of the new hall. The Council approved $35,000 for the purchase of land and the hiring of an architect for a new hall at its January meeting.

Garraghan will journey by bus to Oneida on Friday with a number of aldermen to inspect that city's new city hall, built at a cost of slightly more than $800,000, with some 40,000 square feet of space.

The mayor also told the Rondout meeting that he has received "verbal approval" of a $587,000 code enforcement program for the old Fifth and Tenth Wards. The Common Council approved that program in August of last year.

The program is mostly federally financed and provides for funds to upgrade homes in the code enforcement area with loans and outright grants. Streets and sewage facilities could also be improved under the program.

There was also a lengthy discussion on the proposed Albert Brown Memorial Recreation Center, construction of which has been stalled due to a reported lack of funds. Garraghan pointed out that the low bid for the project was $443,000, some $80,000 above original estimates.

The federal government has promised $193,000 for the facility and the city is committed to amount.

The Kingston Housing Authority had promised $75,000 but has since withdrawn that money to build its own facility which it needs in the immediate future.

Thus, there is some $290,000 left for the center, and the board recommended to Garraghan that he redesign the building and try to build it for that amount.

Irving Bell, Kingston's director of Human Relations, spoke briefly and said that "as a chain money to build its own facility is no stronger than its weakest link, the city of Kingston is stronger than its weakest."

"Broadway East is today the weakest link in the chain," Bell asserted. He said there were two keys to the rebuilding of Downtown Kingston, a new city hall and a supermarket with stores around it.

Said Bell, "It seems to me that a supermarket chain that might be thinking of locating in Broadway East could very easily have second thoughts about it if the people of Kingston do not have any confidence in building city hall downtown."

PRICE TEN CENTS

How Some County Residents Feel About New Tax

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

KINGSTON

The new one per cent county sales tax adopted by the County Legislature Thursday night has not had its full impact on the buying public and probably won't until June 1 when it will cost 5 per cent additional in the city on all taxable items.

A Freeman "man on the street" survey revealed varied comments. Some consumers were actually apathetic and said they would buy what they had to buy, and if it meant paying a tax, they would pay the tax.

There were some "don't quote me comments" and "don't mention my name" types who had some strong language for any kind of taxes.

Miss Barbara Fusco of Barclay Heights, Saugerties, a teller in a Wall Street banking institution said it won't matter too much because if there is some special item she wants bad enough, she will pay the extra tax. She said she does most of her shopping in Kingston because she is employed here.

Mrs. Doris Mulvin of Town of Ulster, who is employed with a Main Street insurance firm said she will try to buy most of the taxable items outside the city. She said she believes in shopping in her home town. Mrs. Mulvin noted that by buying near home she expected to save enough to pay for her Easter bonnet.

Mrs. Lottie Chege of West Chestnut Street, said we are being overtaxed and Washington is the biggest culprit. They are squeezing us from every side, she said. Her comment indicated that she would try to buy less.

One young housewife, who did not want her name mentioned said she went shopping occasionally in White Plains Shopping Center. If its going to cost 5 per cent more to shop here, she said, it might be cheaper to make more trips down to Westchester.

Mrs. Caroline Rudtke of West Saugerties said she and her husband are retired and this will mean that they will have to be careful shoppers where items command 5 per cent sales tax. She said they don't usually shop in Kingston, so it won't matter too much. Mrs. Rudtke said although she is against any taxes, she wouldn't mind taxes if the money is used for the real needs.

A female shopper from Rosendale (don't use my name) said that's all you hear about these days—new taxes. When is it going to stop?

Arthur Perry of South Washington Avenue, a used car dealer said, "They're driving everything out of Kingston—everyone you talk to is disgusted." He said many of his prospective customers go outside the city to buy cars to save the sales tax. Now that it will be five per cent it will get worse, he said.

Special

George Edwards of Liberty Street, said he used to live in New York City and is accustomed to the sales tax. He termed it a necessary evil.

A young New Paltz housewife with two children (don't use my name) said she shops occasionally in Paramus, N. J. and gets some real bargains. After June 1, it will mean more trips down to Jersey to get some of the big items and children's clothing.

Mrs. Robert Schneider of Woodstock said she shops occasionally in Kingston and the new sales tax won't materially change her shopping habits. She patronizes some stores in Kingston to get certain items and will continue despite the added sales tax here.

Mrs. Elizabeth Purdy of Hurley said she usually shops outside the city and only makes purchases here when it is extremely necessary.

John De Olde of South Wall Street said he may have second thoughts about shopping in the city. Five per cent tacked on to the price of an item is a big thing.

Mrs. Joan M. Conway of Port Ewen shrugged her shoulders and said, "What can one really do about it. We must pay it." She said she will shop in Kingston anyway to get the items she needs.

Some people contacted in the Uptown shopping area didn't believe the new tax had passed. There was still hope by many that the county and city would come to some compromise. There was hope that the city would recind its sales tax, now that the county has one.

The mere mention of taxes puts fire in the eyes of the average citizen, and there were some red glows in the eyes of many today.

20-Second JFK Death Film Protested at Shaw Trial

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 20-second movie filmed as a bullet smashed into President John F. Kennedy's head set off an angry protest Friday at Clay Shaw's conspiracy trial.

"The state's sole object is to prejudice the jury," shouted defense lawyer William Wegmann when the movie was screened for the second time of the day—the sixth time since it was introduced Thursday.

Criminal Dist. Court Judge Edward A. Haggerty overruled him. But the defense shouted another protest when the prosecution stopped the film on the frame showing the President's head with a bloody halo.

One of 50 Exhibits The vivid movie made by Abraham Zapruder, a Dallas dress manufacturer, is one of some 50 exhibits introduced by the prosecution.

What the movie proves was a matter of dispute. The Warren Commission pored over it and reached one conclusion, Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison reached another.

"You will be able to see the President fall backwards as the fatal shot strikes him from the front—not the back," Garrison told the jury in his opening statement.

FBI photographic expert Lyndal L. Shaneyfelt of Alexandria, Va., testified Friday that the study of the film confirmed that, though the President's head jerked backward, the spray of blood and tissue from the bullet's impact went "forward and up."

"On the third shot his head exploded and went back," testified Mrs. Philip Willis of Dallas, who took the stand after Shaneyfelt.

"What was the direction of the matter coming from the President's head?" asked Asst. Dist. Atty. Alvin Oser.

"Back," said Mrs. Willis. Then came Billy Joe Martin, the 30th state witness called since testimony began Feb. 6, to testify that he was riding his motorcycle some 10 feet behind the presidential limousine and was splattered with blood and tissue.

Martin, a Dallas motorcycle policeman, was riding escort as the motorcade moved through Dealey Plaza, in front of the Texas School Book Depository where Lee Harvey Oswald worked.

The Warren Commission said

all of the shots that struck the President and Gov. John B. Connally were fired from a sixth floor window of the depository by Oswald, acting alone. It said it found no credible evidence of conspiracy.

Shaw, 55, a retired New Orleans businessman, was charged with conspiring with Oswald and others to murder Kennedy.

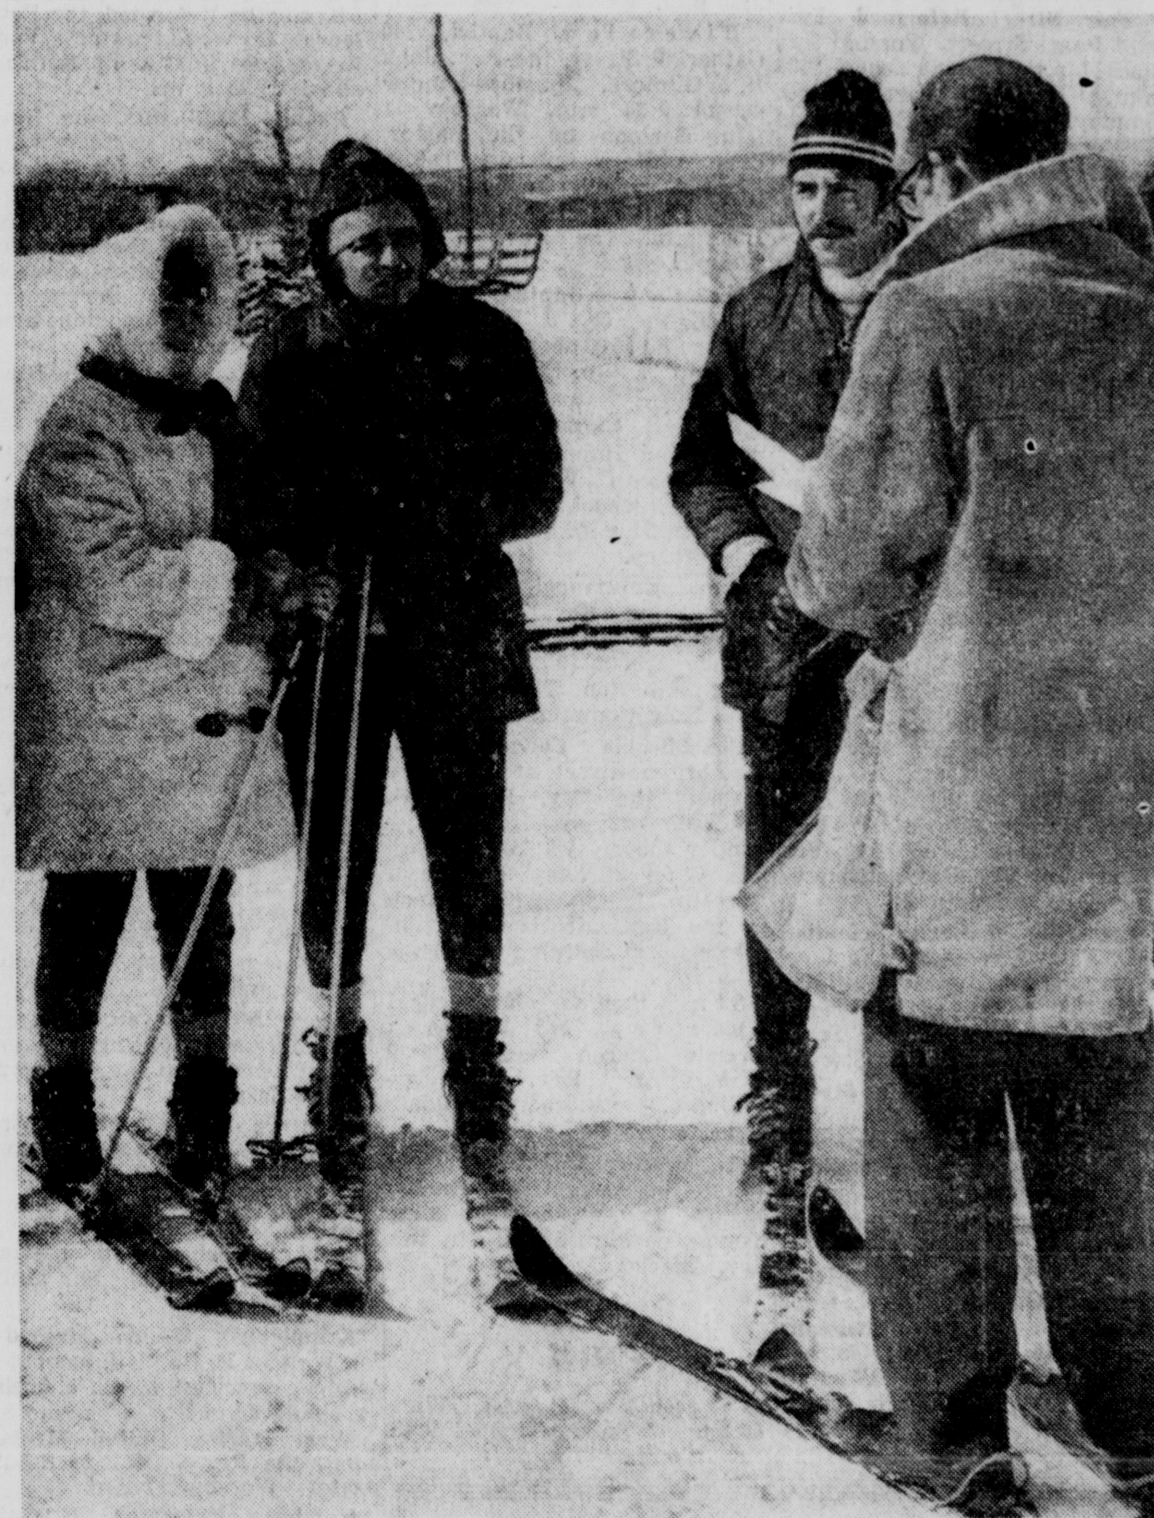

In Washington, general sessions court Judge C.W. Halleck ruled that Garrison could obtain the rifle used in the assassination—but rejected a request for some items sought in the subpoena hearing.

Garrison had asked for X-rays and photographs made at the Kennedy autopsy, contending they would corroborate other evidence in showing the President was hit by cross-fire.

The judge ruled that if the federal government gives Dr. Cyril H. Wecht, a pathologist, permission to look at the autopsy documents they need not be sent to the Shaw trial.

The autopsy documents were turned over to the archives by the Kennedy family with the stipulation that they not be made public until 1971.

WEDDING VOWS—The wedding of young ski enthusiasts Sandra Lefebvre, 26, and her groom, Robert Reiser, 27, both of New York, is different in more ways than one as they take their marriage vows on the slopes of Big Vanilla Ski Resort in Woodridge. The bride wears the traditional white, but in the form of a hooded parka with ski pants. The wedding on skis is officiated by Justice Milton Sardonio of Bethel, N. Y. Groom's brother, John (R), is best man. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Ski Slope Wedding

And Even the Judge Wore Skis--

WOODRIDGE, N.Y. (UPI)—The bride and groom were on skis as a pair of young ski enthusiasts celebrated Valentine's Day by marrying on the slopes at Woodridge, Sullivan County. "We always felt our wedding day should be something memorable, and skiing means a lot to us so we decided to combine the two," said 26-year-old Sandra Lefebvre of New York City after her wintery marriage to Robert Reiser, 27, also of New York.

The wedding took place on the "A" slope of the Big Vanilla ski resort in Woodridge. Even the judge wore skis.

"I certainly never expected to perform a wedding on skis," said town of Bethel Justice Milton Sardonio. The judge, a non-skier, donned his skis with obvious reluctance after admitting he'd "rather sit on a ski-mobile" in the 15-degree cold.

After the ceremony, the bride, wearing a hooded white fur parka and ski pants, and the groom in a Navy parka and slacks, skied under an arch of ski poles held aloft by the resort's ski patrol members.

Originally A Gimmick The ski wedding idea originally began as a gimmick by the resort owners. They placed an ad in a New York City newspaper in search of a couple willing to be married on skis.

"It seemed a little corny at first," the mustachioed Robert said, "but we had thought about having a skiing honeymoon anyway, so we decided, 'why not'."

Sandra, a pert brunette originally from Chicago, added, "after we thought about it the idea seemed perfect."

when she got married. They laughed that Sandy would ski down the aisle.

The couple's families attended the wedding, including Sandra's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Lefebvre of Chicago, and Robert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Reiser of the Bronx.

"Well, it will certainly be something they'll always remember," the mother of the bride mused.

Honeymoon at Resort The newlyweds will honeymoon at the resort for 10 days before returning to Mount Vernon, where they will live.

The bride is a nurse at the Jewish Child Care Foster Home in New York City, and her husband is a public relations copy writer and playwright.

About 50 persons watched the wedding ceremony on the windy slope, and by the time the couple was married most had tears streaming down their cheeks—more from the frigid winds than from emotion.

One man shook his head and commented, "now I've seen everything."

Methodists Schedule Brotherhood Speaker

As a part of Brotherhood Week, the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly of St. Mary's Church will be preaching at the Sunday morning worship service in Clinton Avenue United Methodist Church this week.

Brotherhood Week Feb. 16 to 23 has been celebrated for many years in the Methodist Church but only since the Second Vatican Council has it been possible for Roman Catholic priests to thus participate in Protestant worship.

This new spirit of ecumenicity had a dramatic witness last week when the 19th Annual Methodist Ministers and Wives Fellowship retreat was addressed by Sister Mary Michelle, administrator of the Uihlein Mercy Center, Lake Placid, when that body met at Grossinger's in the Catskills.

The Rev. William A. Studwell, pastor of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, who had the pleasure of introducing the nun to the ministers and wives, reported that she "really wowed the Methodists."

It is especially appropriate that Father Farrelly be the preacher at the Clinton Avenue Church because he and the pastor of that church have been working together hand-in-hand on Kingston area projects of common concern for the past few years.

Both are on the Board of Directors of the Kingston Neighbors Housing Development program now being incorporated. Both have been serving as members of the adult steering committee for the Hobbit Coffee House for youth. Both have participated in programs to better race relations in the Kingston area. Both are active in the Clergy Dialogue which meets monthly to seek a better mutual interfaith understanding.

Fittingly, the special offering for the United Negro College Fund which is received every year in Methodist Churches on Race Relations Sunday will be a part of the Brotherhood observance this week.

The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, pastor of New Paltz Redeemer Lutheran Church and president of the Ministerium of Southern Ulster who will represent the community at the service.

Also participating will be the Rev. Franklin J. Hinkamp, minister of the Poughkeepsie Reformed Church and supervisor of the New Paltz church since the retirement of the Rev. Gerrett J. Wullschlegler on Dec. 31. The Rev. Mr. Wullschlegler, who has been named minister emeritus, will deliver the charge to the congregation.

The Rev. Mr. Walvoord has served for the past five years as executive secretary of the board of education of the Reformed Church in America and previously held pastorates in New York, New Jersey and Michigan. He and his wife moved to New Paltz from New Brunswick, N.J. and are making their home at the Jamison House, 85 Huguenot Street, while the manse is being renovated.

A reception will be held after the installation Sunday at the Fireside Room of the Education Building. A nursery will be provided during the service and reception.

Official Fish Is Welcomed In Ellenville

ELLENVILLE

When Congressman Hamilton Fish, was campaigning for election against Democrat John Dyson last fall, he toured the village of Ellenville and at that time asked for permission to address high school classes in session.

Permission was denied on the basis that the privilege would have been unfair to his opponent, but when Fish visited the High School again Friday, this time as the District freshman Congressman, he was welcomed with open arms.

Fish, in the company of Wawarsing Supervisor Frank W. Harkin, addressed two history classes upon the invitation of teacher Robert Maloy, answering questions on national affairs and giving a brief history of the Electroal College.

The Congressman spent almost four hours in Ellenville, arriving shortly before 10 Friday morning and using Postmaster Nathan Raskin's office to hear his constituents individually and in private.

BEFORE THE TRIP—Members of the We've Had It Taxpayers' Association (WHITA) board of governors gather by their Albany-bound bus Friday at Dietz Stadium. They are (L-R) George Barthel, Ellenville; Michael Antonelli, Rosendale, WHITA chairman; H. Van Wyck Darrow, Kingston, WHITA treasurer, and Charles Burger. The men led a bus of WHITA members to the state capitol where they marched in protest to Gov. Rockefeller's proposed fiscal plans. They presented a petition with 10,000 signatures opposing any one-cent state sales tax rise unless it would be earmarked to reduce local school and real estate taxes. The governor was in New York City for the day, but the WHITA petition was handed to Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. and Assemblyman Clark Bell who represent the county in Albany. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Request Copies Of Marblertown Zoning Proposal

STONE RIDGE

A spokesman for a group of businessmen of the Town of Marblertown told The Freeman today that the group is calling for a 30-day postponement of a scheduled public hearing on a proposed ordinance for the town due to the lack of copies of the final ordinance.

John Krom said "The lack of the zoning board's interest in making available copies of the final draft of the proposed ordinance to interested parties tells us that the zoning board is concerned only with a small group of preferred people of the town."

He said the lack of copies of the ordinance drawn up by the board "prompts us to seek a 30-day postponement," adding "We would prefer to have a public hearing whereby the public would know what the proposed ordinance was."

Few copies of the ordinance have been made available by the board who said this week it has "a copy of the ordinance on file for inspection at the Town Hall."

Krom said "It really is amazing that an appointed board of the Town of Marblertown government can, at their will, subject the voters of the town to a public hearing for an ordinance that no one other than the planning board has seen in final form."

The meeting has been scheduled by the board for the Marblertown Elementary School on Tuesday at 8 p.m. It is to be one of at least two public hearings before the board presents its zoning plan to the town at a Town Board hearing.

awarded a $44,706 contract for restoration work at the building to W. E. Forrest Inc., Poughkeepsie, who was low bidder.

Scenic Roads Group

The Legislature by a resolution offered by E. Stirling Potter, Republican and Minority Leader Roger W. Mabie, Democrat, both 7th District, approved the establishment of a County Scenic Roads Committee composed of five citizens, to make recommendations to the State Department of Transportation as to those state and county highways that should be included in the State Scenic Routes Program.

A resolution by Eugene K. Noe, R-9th District, authorized renewal of an agreement with Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce for continuing the publicity correspondence for the county.

Orrie R. Riehl, D-Kingston, submitted a proposal for a committee study on providing county support to Dutchess County in its efforts to obtain a direct highway approach on the east side of the Hudson River. This would provide a modern east-west link with Northern Dutchess and the New England States.

The State Department of Transportation has approved the reconstruction and widening of 2.06 miles of Route 9G-199 north from its junction at the approach of Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge to west of the Village of Red Hook. A direct approach to the main highways would be a great benefit to Ulster County resort areas and possibly provide an industrial advantage.

Allies Stalk Reds; Recall Tet in '68

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces ignored the start of a Viet Cong cease-fire today and continued air strikes and 60 offensive operations of battalion size or larger.

The enemy stand-down for Tet, the lunar new year holiday that begins Monday, is scheduled to last until Feb. 22. A South Vietnamese government source said Saigon would announce a short allied truce for Monday.

But he said the government would not announce details of the cease-fire until 11 p.m. Saigon time (10 a.m. EST), because it feared the enemy might break their own cease-fire pledge as they did last year, when they hit Saigon and 120 towns and cities in their biggest offensive of the war.

Saigon Safe?

U.S. intelligence sources said three major North Vietnamese divisions, the 1st, 7th and 9th, are in border areas near Cambodia and not in position right now to attack Saigon. They said elements of the North Vietnamese 5th Division do pose a threat in War Zone D, about 30 miles north of the capital. "They're not in position to launch a significant attack on Saigon right now," said one source, "but that certainly doesn't preclude isolated terrorist attacks and small-scale assaults."

In Bien Hoa province east of Saigon, a man wearing the robes of a Buddhist monk deal with the Communists at the Paris peace talks.

Thieu made the remark in one of a series of holiday visits to military units. He recalled last year's Tet offensive. "They caused much harm to our people and country," he said. "It took us six months to rebuild to where we were before. We have to be on our guard this year."

Reds Are Ready

Despite the allied spoiling operations, the Communist command said its armed forces "are capable of striking anywhere, any place, any time, from the cities to the rural areas."

In Paris, where the peace talks are stalled, the negotiators' attention was focused on the Feb. 28 visit of President Nixon.

There was widespread feeling Nixon's personal contact with chief U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and other members of the delegation could lead to some new American initiative to break the deadlock.

Lodge took over the top role within hours of Nixon's inauguration Jan. 20 and the two have been in touch since the expanded talks began Jan. 25. But Lodge has not had a chance to make a face-to-face report on the deadlock which became apparent at the first meeting.

The Vietnam News Agency reported that Le Duc Tho, special Vietnamese delegation in Paris, returned to Hanoi Thursday to advise to the head of the North report to his government.

Concessions from Reds on Viet Could Come in Secret Sessions

PARIS (UPI)—Western diplomats said today the Communists would make concessions towards peace in Vietnam if the negotiations moved behind closed doors.

The diplomats said both North Vietnam and the Viet Cong had purposely spelled out maximum demands at the start of the talks but would eventually make concessions when secret bargaining begins.

The diplomats said the Communists would continue to insist on their maximum demands in all public statements but they recalled Hanoi had made several unwritten agreements last year in exchange for a total U.S. bombing halt against North Vietnam.

Although North Vietnamese diplomats, in public statements, repeatedly called the bombing of Hanoi an unconditional American concession, Hanoi also agreed privately to withdraw part of its troops from the south; stop sending large units south through the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ); allow U.S. overflights of the DMZ; and stop terrorist shelling in South Vietnam, the observers said.

The diplomats further expressed fears, however, the Soviet Union may become so entangled with new tensions over Berlin and elsewhere in Europe it would lose interest in a Vietnam peace.

During his term as chief U.S. delegation leader, former Am-28-March 2.

Set Deadline On Petitions For Red Hook

RED HOOK

With only ten days left in which to file petitions for candidacies for village elections in Red Hook, two men are reportedly circulating petitions for unamed seats.

They are Arthur F. Hand (no relation to the mayor) of 20 Smith Street and Arnold Colburn, 16 Garden Street.

Meanwhile, the incumbents, Mayor Ellroy C. Hand and Trustees Robert M. Bowman and Frederick L. Cotting and Police Justice Frank Kolbenskie have all stated they will seek reelection on the Progressive Party ticket.

Arthur Hand is an employee of IBM in Poughkeepsie and Colburn, who may seek the justice post, is an operator of a trailer court and service station.

Election will take place March 18.

Chamber Ensemble to Perform at Vassar

The Department of Music at Vassar College, with the assistance of the New York State Council of the Arts, will sponsor two appearances of The Contemporary Chamber Ensemble, Arthur Weisberg, conductor, on Sunday in Skinner Recital Hall, Poughkeepsie. This ensemble, comprised of 17 performers, has specialized in the performance of recent avant-garde music, and will perform at Vassar three works written since 1965.

On Sunday afternoon at 3:30, the group will have an open rehearsal of the works to be played at the 8:30 p. m. concert. Both events are open to the public. In addition to first performances in this area of new works by Frederic Myrow, George Perle, and Jacob Druckman, Stravinsky's Octet for Wind Instruments will be played.

Attention is called to the change of time for the open rehearsal, which had been previously announced for 2:30 p. m.

1969 Spring Fashion Sketches Denote . . . Variety

THREE TENDENCY SKETCHES indicate that Pierre Balmain suggests pleated flare skirts for dresses, shoulder drapes for gowns and long scarves with slim suits. The French couturier presented his spring-summer '69 collection in Paris recently. (UPI CABLEPHOTO).

TENDENCY SKETCHES from Parisian designer, Louis Feraud, for his spring-summer 1969 collection show that, for this designer at least, the hemline will remain high and pants are still in vogue. Feraud showed his collection recently at Paris. (UPI CABLEPHOTO).

ONE DESIGN from Jean Patou's 1969 spring and summer collection is this cocktail gown in white cotton organdy. Collection was shown at Paris recently. (UPI CABLEPHOTO).

DESIGNER SYBIL ZELKER has come up with this ankle-length, polka-dotted dress in rayon surah for Polly Peck of London. A wide brimmed straw hat and a parasol complete the summer outfit. (UPI CABLEPHOTO).

Women Fit to Be Fettered

NEW YORK (AP) — After years of fighting for equal rights, the modern woman is back in chains. But this time, she doesn't mind a bit.

From the top of her head to the tip of her toes, the fashionable female of 1969 is swathed in chains. Gold or silver, thick or thin—it doesn't matter, so long as there are lots of them.

The chain belt, which started the whole craze, has branched out from simple little links to elaborately twined strips of metal, often interspersed with discs. Among the most popular are those with antique-style coils or signs of the zodiac.

Chains—around the neck—also a fashion standard—have multiplied. The medallion, worn by both sexes, is still a favorite. Some of the chain necklaces support watches, some are worn intermingled with signature scarves and others are designed to be worn alone.

Chain-handled bags continue to gain in popularity. A clear favorite is the chain-strapped shoulder bag worn with pants suits.

Among the newest chains, shown in spring fashion collections in New York and Europe, are:

—The chain suspender. Princess Irene Galitzine of Rome showed white enamel and gold metal suspenders atop a white silk miniskirt and full-sleeved black chiffon blouse. Bill Blass, in New York, showed chains atop a simple high-waisted skirt.

—The half-chain. Several designers featured half-belts of chains, either in back or front. Originals presented a red jumpsuit, with loose chain in front.

—Chains for pants. Tunic-tops of pants suits were belted, low on the hip or high under the bosom, with single or double chains. Bill Blass used a chain under the instep, rather like the elasticized strap on ski pants.

—Chains on shoes. Sparked by the newest Gucci moccasin, designers like David Evans draped chains around the vamp of shoes or used them instead of straps on sling pumps.

—Chains as halters. For the really daring, the Rome fashion house of Titti Brugnoli showed halters of strategically placed rhinestones and chains, worn with scanty white miniskirts.

In 1762, opening his "Soci Contract," Jean Jacques Rousseau wrote, "Man is born free and everywhere is in chains."

In 1969, it's woman who is born free and everywhere is in chains.

Quest for Learning

"A university," said Benjamin Disraeli, "should be a place of light, of liberty and of learning."

Today's students are definitely enjoying an abundance of the second of these three Ls, but there is cause to wonder how the other two are faring. Consider the light shed and the learning displayed recently on one university campus.

It began when about 35 members of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) hoisted a Viet Cong flag at the Post Office at Stanford University. Young Republicans attempted to remove the flag, but it had been skillfully knotted to frustrate just such a reactionary reaction.

The SDS group next marched to the office of President Kenneth S. Pitzer, demanding that he answer their questions "concerning the university's participation in the violence perpetrated against the people of the world."

Unfortunately, the president was not there, so the students had to go way unenlightened.

Next day, in "the most dramatic show of conservative student strength yet seen on campus," about 50 Young Republicans and Young Americans for Freedom chanted "pigs off campus, pigs off campus" at members of the SDS during a noon rally and waved brightly colored placards bearing such devastating slogans as, "If You Liked Hitler, You'll Love SDS."

After enduring an hour's heckling, the SDS led a march on the Applied Electronic Laboratory, but was prevented from capturing the building by the conservatives, with minor scuffling. About 100 SDSers then invaded the research facilities in the Stanford Industrial Park, where they raised the red flag of revolution and the black flag of anarchy.

Thus ended another day in youth's unceasing quest for light, liberty and learning in one grove of higher education.

President Nixon gets a feel of the country by reading a sampling of White House mail each night. That is as good a way as possible of keeping in touch with the citizenry, without undue personal exposure, until the streets are safe again. But sometimes the non-letter writers have the best ideas. Get out that pen.

Apollo Astronaut Frank Borman and his family are making a tour of friendly nations in Western Europe. The message President Nixon gave him to broadcast is that the moon mission stems from the whole history of scientific discovery, in which all civilization shares. That should give Western Europe a share in the race to the moon.

Drew Pearson Says

Nixon's Volunteer Draft Plan Gets Ignored

By JACK ANDERSON

After the seizure of the Pueblo, Jack Anderson rushed to Korea for an on-the-spot check. In an exclusive report from Seoul on Feb. 7, he revealed many facts that have been confirmed in the Pueblo hearing. Anderson reported, for example, that "only a few token fighter planes were ready for action when the Pueblo called for help. Unfortunately these were armed with nuclear weapons. . . . They were not equipped to intercept a couple of communist patrol boats off the Korean coast." In a subsequent dispatch he reported that the U.S. had only four nuclear-loaded fighter planes in Korea at the time of the Pueblo incident.

These facts were picked up several months later by the New York Times, Washington Post and other newspapers and confirmed again at the Pueblo hearings.

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's end-of-the-draft directive to the Defense Department has been consigned to the Washington treadmill, where most good ideas spin in hopeless circles.

The brass hats are blithely going ahead, as if they were unaware of the President's wishes, with preparations to draft more men than last year. Even the Marine Corps, which prided itself on maintaining a volunteer force, has asked for draftees to fill its ranks during the year ahead.

Nixon has ordered the Defense Department to "develop a detailed plan" for ending the draft and establishing an all-volunteer Army, Navy, and Air Force. In time, of course, the "detailed plan" will emerge from the Pentagon. But it will be endlessly debated and delayed by the Senate and House Armed Services Committees, whose members are courted by and take their cues from the Pentagon.

If they wish to take a vacation to Paris or Hong Kong, the Air Force will fly them there. If they prefer a more leisurely cruise, the Navy will provide a ship. All three services have promoted committee members to exalted ranks in the reserves.

The brass hats have also whispered to the Southerners who dominate the Armed Services Committee that a professional army would become largely a Negro army, at least in the noncommissioned ranks. On the question of the draft, therefore, the Congressmen who count will pay more attention to the Pentagon than to the President.

Manpower Waste

The armed forces find it simpler, of course, to draft than to recruit young men. As long as military conscription remains on the books, the services can disdain the bothersome scramble for manpower.

They need not complete with private industry to fill their ranks, nor persuade hesitant prospects to choose a military career, nor worry about the Army's appeal. They merely notify the draft boards how many replacements they need, a system only slightly more sophisticated than the British Navy's method of shanghaiing crews from waterfront taverns in the 1700s.

The result is an Army of amateurs in an age of specialists, a compulsory force whose rank and file tried valiantly to keep out of uniform and can hardly wait to get back into mufti. Nearly half of the Army's enlisted men are draftees, ripped away from their private pursuits, rushed into training, ramrodded through two years of enforced service, and then released just as they are reaching their peak fighting trim.

It is a not only distasteful but wasteful system, which virtually guarantees that no more than 43 per cent of the Army will have over one year of experience at any given time.

Note—It costs the taxpayers $50,000 a year to keep an American soldier in Vietnam, 20 times more than the expense of keeping an Asian soldier in the field. For every fighting man, the U.S. has half a dozen others diagnosing his combat effectiveness, analyzing his motivation, committing the results to paper and providing other back-up services.

Hanoi-U.S. Link

The FBI and Military Intelligence have established a definite link between the North Vietnamese and the American rabble-rousers who organized the Chicago Democratic Convention riots and the Nixon inaugural demonstrations.

The trouble was provoked on both occasions by the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam. After the bottle throwing and Viet Cong flag waving at the inaugural, Hanoi sent a special message of congratulation to the committee.

"We are deeply impressed," declared the message, "by the successful march on Washington during the presidential inaugural day to welcome the victory of the South Vietnam National Front for Liberation and demand the withdrawal of all American troops. . . ."

"We extend to you our sincere thanks. We hope that we would further coordinate our activities for peace and real independence in Vietnam."

Note — Demonstration leaders blamed the violence on what they called the "crazies." But intelligence reports charge that the Mobilization Committee brought in the hard-bitten agitators who provoked the violence.

Miracle Metal

Pentagon officials are dismayed over press stories that beryllium, the miracle metal used in missiles and spacecraft, could become a serious health hazard.

It is true that beryllium dust, if inhaled, can cause an incurable lung disease. Those who mine or machine beryllium must take special precautions. There is no danger, however, to anyone who works around missiles, spacecraft and other equipment containing beryllium parts.

U.S. Beryllium and Beryllium International, which recently merged, have notified their stockholders: "Beryllium together with uranium and thorium are known to be toxic and, as such, for years they have been handled with great care and unusual precautions."

Note—Scare stories about beryllium could affect the national security. For the remarkable lightweight, heat-resistant metal is involved in highly secret missile research.

Quick Change

Admiral Hyman Rickover, the Navy's gadfly, tells graduating students: "You are told by commencement speakers that you have got to go out and change the world. Well, you've got only one year to do it. Next year, another crop of graduates will be told the same thing."

Letters to the Editor

Marbletown Planning Board with such professional and Stone Ridge, New York knowledgeable assistance could Feb. 6, 1969 a realistic and practical ordinance be drafted.

The Marbletown Planning Board wishes to reply to the letter of Charles Groeters, which appeared in the January 29th issue of The Freeman, Town; to encourage the most appropriate use of land in the community in order to conserve and enhance the value of property; to provide adequate and suitably located commercial facilities; to realize a development plan properly designed to conserve the use of land and the cost of municipal services; to encourage the development of old and new business within the town; to be alert and aware of any undesirable development projects conducted by interests, Marbletown, the business man, whose principal concern may be the farmer, and the majority citizen—the resident home owner. To jeopardize one over the other, would not be only unjust, but unwise. It should be noted, that the proposed Zoning Ordinance for Marbletown has been formulated by the Planning Board in conjunction with and under the advisement of the New York State Office of Planning Coordination, the Ulster County Planning Comm., and the Town's professional planners, Brown and Anthony. By LEON DENNEN

(NEA Foreign News Analyst)

NEW YORK (NEA)—Moscow is not likely to disclose soon the real identity of the man seized in the Kremlin after firing at a motorcade carrying Soviet astronauts and Communist leaders.

The Russian now held prisoner in notorious Lubyanka Prison is reported to be an army officer in his 20s who apparently aimed to kill party chief Leonid Brezhnev.

One version in Moscow even has it that he was a lieutenant in the secret police (MVD) and that he leapt from a sentry box inside the Kremlin walls to fire his shots.

Whatever his identity or motive, young Ilyin—if this is his real name—will not be judged by a jury as is Sirhan Sirhan, the alleged assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. He will certainly not be tried in a court open to the press until he signs a written "confession" and implicates others in his "plot."

Myths

This is what the Marxist-Leninists call "socialist legality." They have only contempt for "capitalist standards of legality which the deride as "bourgeois myths."

Sinister memories must have come back to many Russians when the Soviet press finally broke silence after 28 hours to headline the shooting as an "act of provocation."

A similar act in 1934—the assassination of Stalin's rival Sergei Kirov—triggered a wave of executions and several million Russians were sent to concentration camps.

The whole truth about Kirov's murder is still to emerge. His assassin, it is now known, was a member of the secret police. In 1956, former Premier Khrushchev intimated that Stalin had arranged Kirov's murder to provide an excuse for a wave of terror that would enable him to eliminate potential rivals.

Practically everyone connected in some way with the "Kirov Affair," including Nikolayev, the assassin, was speedily executed without a trial.

Will history repeat itself in Russia? After Stalin's death in 1953 some attempts were made by his successors to curb the power of the secret police. However, things seem to be changing again.

The Kremlin's uneasy rulers find it increasingly difficult to cope with the upsurge of dissidence in Russia and the East European Communist countries. They are again resorting to strong police measures to deal with a phenomenon that frightens them.

It was obviously to give the Russian people a severe psychological shock that the Kremlin recently decided to rename the Ministry of Public Order as the Ministry of Interior—or MVD.

Secret Police

These were the initials by which the domestic branch of the secret police was known when it was ruled by Lavrenti Beria, Stalin's executioner, during the purges in the 1940s. Khrushchev discarded the name in 1960 when he sought to improve the public image of the secret police. By restoring the dreaded MVD initials, Brezhnev is clearly warning the Russians of a change in policy.

According to Soviet citizens who recently visited the West, the MVD has already launched a wave of repression against Russians ostensibly associated with a group of students and scientists accused of building an underground organization.

Known as the Union of Social-Christian Liberation, the clandestine organization is said to have branches in Leningrad, Moscow, and the Ukraine. Its aim is to "spearhead a revolt against corruption in Soviet society."

The union and another secret organization that calls itself Vanguard of Soviet Youth are hardly a serious threat to the Communist dictatorship. Not in the foreseeable future, anyway.

But their very existence must be a nightmare for the Kremlin rulers who still glorify secret revolutionary organizations that persistently undermined and subsequently overthrew the Czar.

Efforts to Combat Poverty

WASHINGTON — Figures alone, without an explanation of what they really mean, can convey wrong impressions. Letters are coming in, for

Ten and Twenty Years Ago

Feb. 15, 1949—Central Hudson Gas and Electric sought permission to issue $2,000,000 in additional preferred stock.

Damage to the city's main water supply line in the Woodstock rockslide forced the city to draw on the reserve at Zena.

Feb. 15, 1959—Thirty-six Ulster County students were part of a group of 5,480 selected for Regents College Scholarships for the 1959 series.

Fire destroyed a two-story dwelling at the Lake Katrine Estate. Fire also damaged a room of the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Timely Quote

Expulsion from college approaches the seriousness of a quasi-criminal penalty.

An appeal filed before the U.S. Supreme Court asking that college administrators be required to give hearings to students being expelled.

instance, to members of Congress complaining about the raises in pay which they just voted for themselves and others in government. Many of the citizens do no begrudge Congressmen a few thousand dollars increase, but when they read about all the free Senators and Representatives, skepticism arises, and various questions are asked. People want to know why more isn't being done for the millions of people who are not getting enough money to make ends meet.

Only a few days ago, it was officially announced that the current unemployment rate is 3.3 per cent, the lowest in more than 15 years. But the average reader isn't familiar with what is meant by "unemployment," nor is the number actually out of work revealed. No explanation is given why they cannot get employment when there are plenty of jobs unfilled.

According to official statistics, the total number of persons who were listed as "unemployed" in 1968 was 2,817,000 as compared with 2,973,000 in 1967, and 2,878,000 in 1966.

But the "unemployment" figures do not tell the whole story. For there are 9,500,000 persons receiving "welfare."

Means Inadequate

Also, there is a much larger group, consisting of 22,000,000 individuals, which is officially designated as "poor" because the total income of a family of four is not more than 3,335 dollars per year. Many in this category are above the age of 65 and their retirement or social security income is inadequate.

Thus, there are between 20,000,000 and 25,000,000 persons in the "poor" classification or "on welfare" or both. This is one of the reasons why, when the press tells about increases in salary for Government officials, the advocates of aid to impoverished citizens begin to wonder why something more could not be done, particularly as inflation continues to increase the cost of living.

Criticism has been voiced about persons "on welfare" who do not seek employment. One of the difficulties is that the work which some of them might be able to do is not in the same section of the city or state in which they live, and transportation is not readily available. There are millions, too, who lack training for or are not physically able to do jobs which are open.

It is estimated that nearly ten billion dollars a year is being spent by Federal, State and Local Governments for "relief" alone, plus medical assistance. States vary in the amount they contribute to meet the "basic needs" of a family. Most of the states in the North provide for 75 to 100 per cent of a family's "basic needs." Some of the states in the South furnish from 20 to 35 per cent. Out of the total who are being aided, about 40 per cent are Negroes.

U.S. Economy

Certainly contributions made by government to assist persons "on welfare" or in the so-called "poor" classification are larger than they have ever been before in American history. Yet, in the face of what can be called widespread poverty, the word "prosperity" is often used to describe the economic condition of the United States.

A good deal of stress is laid also upon the increases in the "gross National product." Certainly, business is expanding, and labor organizations have been successful in getting contracts from employers which raise wages from year to year. But members of labor unions are only around 17,000,000 out of nearly 80,000,000 in the civilian labor force of the nation.

Efforts have been made to help people in retirement by increasing Social Security payments, but a vast number are still unable to meet living expenses because of the general rise in prices. The fact is that, in the richest country in the world, many millions of persons who cannot find jobs in their own localities are unable to take care of their children or aged parents.

Although there have been irregularities and much inefficiency in the handling of some of the "anti-poverty" programs, at least a start has been made toward effective assistance by State and Federal Governments for those who cannot work or whose incomes are inadequate to meet the household expenses of today.

TEEN SCENE: From Delight to Goodtime via Phoenix

By LEI

Glen Travis Campbell has come a long way from Delight, Arkansas (population, 450) where he was playing his Sears and Roebuck guitar at four years old, and plowing before that—hasn't he? There he is, bigger than life on the telly screen, singing that goodtime thing on us—and that's a long way from the cornfields, isn't it? Isn't it?

Glen was born a seventh son, and learned to play guitar from his uncle, Boo Campbell. At fourteen, as he puts it, he "got tired of looking a mule in the butt," quit plowing (and also school) to play in his uncle's band.

There followed some lean years, playing on country music stations, backing country artists on tour, playing with a group called the champs, and playing background on a country television station that was so small that its highest-rated program was the testing pattern. Eventually, Glen met his wife in Albuquerque, and then headed for California, and the big recording studios. It was a smart move.

Glen could play well on six and twelve-string guitar, five-string banjo, mandolin, and bass. Recording studios soon had him backing stars, such as Sinatra, Nat King Cole, Roger Williams, Elvis Presley, and the Mamas & Papas. (Needless to say, he soon developed a wide variety of styles.) Although unable to this day to read music, Glen was earning $100,000 in 1961. And that was a long way from Delight.

Second Hand Fame

In 1961, Glen recorded a hit, "Turn Around, Look at Me," but when payola turned him off, the deejays wouldn't turn him on. Fame, of a second-hand sort found Glen in 1965, when Beach Boy Brian Wilson developed a sore throat just before a p. a. in Dallas. Glen stood in for him, and was mobbed for the first time. The experience was enlivening for all concerned, and Glen toured with the Beach Boys for the next six months.

Two years ago, Glen decided that all this background playing was just another way of being hitched behind a mule. He decided to use his talents for his own benefits, instead of helping other people too sound good. "Gentle On My Mind," "By The Time I Get to Phoenix," and the Smothers Brothers show followed, along with four Grammie Awards.

While doing the Smothers Brothers show, Glen formed opinions of what would make a good telly show. On the Smothers bit, most of the guests had been booked far in advance, and the format of the show had been set before Glen appeared. He hoped some day to have a show where he could book guests for their talent, not for the size of their current hit. And while he thought telly censors were "dum-dum," Glen thought that a show could be good and still skip those hassles.

Like Corncakes

Well, he's got that show. He's got hit records all over, with and without Bobby Gentry. He's got seven albums, selling like corncakes. It's a long way from the mule. . .

But sometimes when the strobe lights are out and the cue cards down, he must wonder. Glen Campbell looks as young as the Campbell soup twins, but he's 31, and time's catching up. There's something about his voice that sounds better when it's got something to cling to—Jim Webb's words, or Bobby Gentry's morning glory. Country music fans often find that he lacks the guts of a Henson Cargyll, the timbre of an Eddy Arnold. Pop people find him a little too rural in many numbers. . . And he's still playing background. Background for himself, for the Goodtime bit, for Bobby Gentry.

Glen Travis Campbell has everything he probably thought he wanted, when he walked out of that cornfield. Perhaps he has all he wants, now—unless he wants to be a truly talented (as opposed to a good) singer. That may be one thing he can't make. Glen Campbell could be a natural-born background singer. And that's just another way of walking back of a mule—except for the money, of course. . .

New Paltz Students Set for Puerto Rico

NEW PALTZ Some of the highlights of the trip will include, a personal meeting with Dona Felisa Rincon de Gautier, Mayoress of San Juan, a trip to the Governor's Mansion and a meeting with the new Governor Luis A. Ferre, comprehensive tours of El Morro Fortress, El Yunque, tropical rainforest, the University of Puerto Rico in Rio Piedras, Liguillo Beach, El Conquistador Hotel.

A special visit will be to the Republic of Colombia High School where New Paltz has so many friends. It was here that we met the fine young people who visited here last June, including one of the present exchange students, Miss Griselle Alvarez, who is now studying during her final year at New Paltz High School.

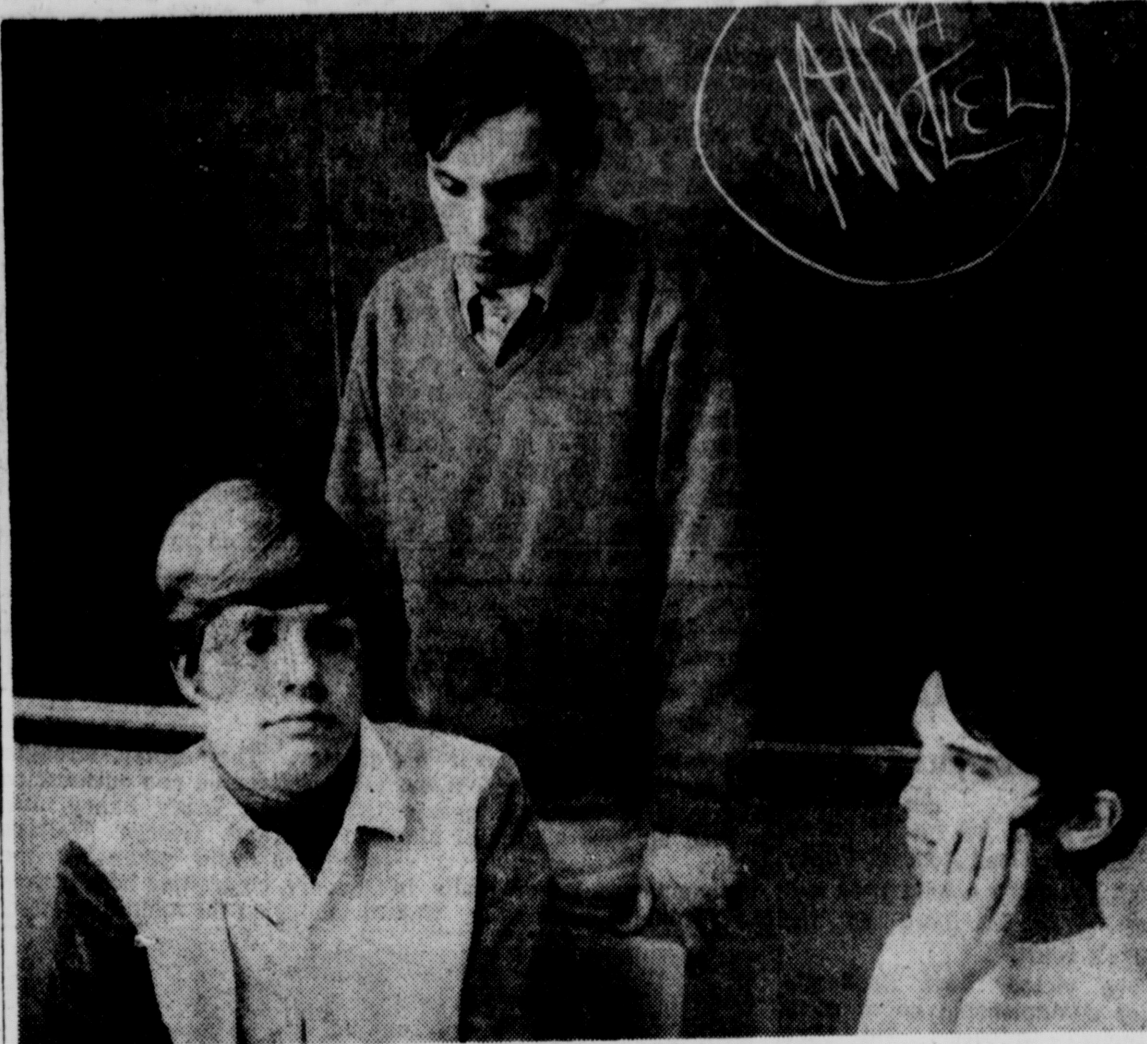

This year the group will include the following people: Mary Ann Penzato, Bonnie Hill, Julie Moorbeck, Rose Mary Moorbeck, Maribeth Coutant, Carol Huber, Cynthia George, Linda Stier, Jane Clarkson, Mary Reid, Arlene Osterhoudt, Peggy Walz, Peggy Corey, Patricia Schreiber, Maureen Nagle, Patricia Tufts, Grisselle Alvarez, Jack Carter, William Bond, David Mosconi, Dane Barr, James Manee, Barry Kennedy, Bill Abrams, Andrew Wexler, Richard Schneider, David Bantham and David Jimenez.

Special guests and chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, Mrs. Susan Hobbs, Miss Ann Muller, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Lentino, Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. J. Fiore and Alan Masters.

Some of the main objectives of the trip will be to present to students an opportunity to visit and experience elements of Spanish culture in an anthropological context, to help students understand the dynamics of cultural diffusion and borrowing, to enable students to better understand value systems of another culture, to see why Puerto Ricans regard their country as a "Showcase of Democracy," to have students experience a more holistic study of Puerto Rican culture and to help foster better educational philosophies between students of both countries.

AT REHEARSAL — Three members of the cast of the 1969 Kingston High School senior play, discuss their exacting roles in David and Lisa. In this scene are Joe Melahn, John Lynch and Beth Askue. The cast, under the direction of Frank Ryerson, will present the dramatic play March 7 and 8 at the high school auditorium. Curtain time is 8 p. m. both nights. Tickets will be available at the door.

Youth in the News

Two area girls are looking forward to next Sunday with eager anticipation.

For Jane D. Overbaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Overbaugh, 23, Lafayette Street, Saugerties, Feb. 23 is the date of the combined choir concert at Goucher College, Towson, Md. She will take part in the presentation as a member of the Goucher Glee Club. Joining the host college will be the choir of St. Mary's Seminary, Roland Park, Baltimore. The program is a varied presentation of secular and sacred works for chorus and instruments.

Miss Overbaugh, a graduate of Saugerties High School is a junior at Goucher and is majoring in Political science. Feb. 23 is the date for the formal ring ceremony at Mt. St. Mary College, Newburgh. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bundy of 75 A m s t e r d a m Avenue, Kingston will receive her class ring in rites at the college 3 p. m. that Sunday.

Meanwhile Ulster County young people are scoring high marks at schools out of the area.

Word has been received of Members of the team are seniors, John Decker, Mark Fisher and Keith Gorham and junior, John Hall, Steven Zwick, junior, is alternate.

Selection this year was based on a miniature intramural competition. Sixteen selected students competed in two separate contests comprised of eight students each. Individual performances were recorded by faculty members and were evaluated mathematically to insure objective selection.

Catholic young people in at least two areas of Ulster County are planning a variety of events this week.

In Kingston St. Mary's Catholic Youth Organization is planning a dance for Thursday, Feb. 20 from 7 to 11:30 p. m. to be followed by ski trip the next day.

The popular local group, Jade Red, will play for dancing. All area teenagers may attend. Tickets will be available at the door.

The ski trip to Gore Mountain State Ski Center in the central Adirondacks will depart from St. Mary's School at 6:30 a. m. and return approximately 9 p. m. Further information and reservations are available from Marie Beichert or Barbara Geary. Those interested in the ski excursion are advised to call early as there is a limited number of seats.

St. Mary's CYO elected temporary officers at its last meeting. The slate will fill posts until the regular May elections. Marie Beichert is president and John Tiano, vice president. Dawn Bodenweber and Barbara Geary will remain in their posts as secretary and treasurer.

A Teen Day for young people of St. Mary-St. Andrew Church, Ellenville and Our Lady of Lourdes Mission in Kerhonkson will be held Ash Wednesday.

The day will start at 9 a. m. with distribution of ashes. The movie, Requiem for a Heavyweight will be shown followed by discussion session. Daughters of Mary-Health of the Sick, Redemptorist seminarians, Marist brothers and friends will join teenagers in celebrating the Eucharist. Guitar music for the Mass will be provided by the seminarians.

In an effort to keep the public informed on the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine program for teenagers, the film will be shown again after the 7 p. m. Mass.

Night and Day Busy At Rondout Valley

STONE RIDGE

There are big things at Rondout Valley High School tonight as the social event of the school year gets underway at 8 o'clock.

The junior class is staging its ring dance with A Place in the Sun as its theme. Climax of the evening will be the crowning of the King and Queen followed by the traditional ceremony at which class members receive their school rings.

The Coming Generation Band will furnish music for dancing. This group will be featured the following weekend at the Tropical Inn with the "Classic Four" who play the well-known song, "Spooky."

Candidates for king and queen will be voted on prior to the dance. Nominees are:

Queen—Dianne Slawson, Pat Clarke, Debbie Denksenoh, Jeanne Sparling, Elynn Derman, Mary Oakley, Anne Van Kleeck, Jody Tefft and Roxie Passer.

King — Peter Nekos, Pete Koola, John Hall, Tom Schoonmaker, Tom Napoli, Al Auletta, Carl Hoar, Lee Gazlay and Larry Baney.

Of these, in addition to the King and Queen, four boys and four girls will be chosen to make up the court.

Egan Stands Taller After Lakers' Win

By United Press International

Little Johnny Egan stands taller than Wilt Chamberlain in the scoring column today.

Egan, at six-feet, is a shrimp by comparison to the bigger players in the National Basketball Association. He whittled some of them down to size Friday night as a replacement for injured Jerry West as he scored 28 points in Los Angeles' 115-109 victory over San Diego. Chamberlain netted 25 points, a total matched by the Lakers' Elgin Baylor as Los Angeles kept its four-game bulge over Atlanta in the Western Division. Rookie Elvin Hayes of San Diego canned 25 points.

Baltimore increased its Eastern lead to 3 1/2 games over New York with a 132-122 triumph over Milwaukee. Wes Unseld, gunning for rookie of the year honors, yanked down 30 rebounds and scored 28 points for the Bullets. Jon McGlocklin of Milwaukee had a game high 37 points. Zelmo Beaty's two foul throws in the last 10 seconds iced Atlanta's 104-101 decision over Boston in overtime. Beaty led the Hawks in scoring with 31 points and had a career high 28 rebounds. John Havlicek posted 29 points for the Celtics. San Francisco countered Hal Greer's 31 points with a 36-point performance by Jeff Mullins as the Warriors defeated the 76ers 127-111. and Detroit stopped Phoenix 128-123 on Dave Bing's 37 points.

A "Cold" Davenport Sets World Record

TORONTO (AP) — Willie Davenport's record-breaking sprint across 50 yards of varnished hardwood, and hurdles Friday night had 15,137 fans roaring and the U.S. star wondering what would have happened if he had been ready.

Davenport, gold medal winner in the 110-meter hurdles at the 1968 Olympics, almost missed the meet here because of poor plane connections, but won the 50-yard hurdles in the unofficial world record time of 5.8 seconds at the Telegram-Maple Leaf Indoor Games.

"I didn't get to the hotel here until 7:30 and I didn't have time to loosen up after I arrived at the Gardens," Davenport said.

The spindly, 6-foot-1 hurdler from Baton Rouge, La., originally was scheduled to arrive in Toronto at 5 p.m., but missed a plane connection in New Orleans.

The record is considered unofficial because indoor times and distances are not recognized by the Amateur Athletic Union.

Two other unofficial indoor Canadian open records also were established and two were equalled.

Meanwhile, Bob Beamon of the U.S., world record holder and gold medalist in the long jump at the Olympics, re-injured his right leg and withdrew. Beamon had completed one jump, taking off on the wrong foot to clear 24 feet.

Barbara Ferrell of the U.S. established a Canadian open record of 35.2 seconds, just one-tenth of a second off the unofficial world record, in the women's 300 yards.

The second Canadian open record for an indoor meet was set by Antonina Okorokova of zoreva of Russia, who won the women's high jump at 5-11 1/2 to beat the former mark of 5-9 held by Dianne Gerace of Trail, B.C. Tommie Smith of the U.S. equalled the Canadian open record of 31.5 seconds in the 300 yards, edging John Carlos, also of the U.S., at the tape. Smith had set the record in Vancouver last year.

The pole vault proved a disappointment to the spectators, who came to see Bob Seagren of the U.S., unofficial world record holder at 17-6.

Seagren cleared 16-6 to win the event but failed in his attempt to crack his own Canadian open mark of 17-1.

Madeline Manning and Mamie Rallins, both of the U.S. and favorites here for a number of seasons, had little difficulty in winning their specialists.

Miss Rallins won the women's 50-yard hurdles in 6.6 seconds and was almost three strides ahead of her nearest rival at the tape.

Miss Manning, gold medalist in the 800 meters at the Olympics, won the women's 880 in 2:08.4, two-tenths of a second slower than her unofficial world record.

Beard and Maxwell Share Phoenix Tie

PHOENIX, Ariz. UPI—Veterans Frank Beard and Billy Maxwell bolted from the field in the second round to a tie for the lead in the $100,000 Phoenix Open Friday.

Maxwell, one of the seven pros deadlocked after the first round, shot a five-under-par 22-34-66 to go with Thursday's 65 to give him a 36-hole total of 131 at the halfway point of the tournament at the Arizona Country Club.

Beard combined a second round 32-33-65 with his opening 66.

U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino barely made the cut to the low 78, which was at two-under-par 140. Trevino was at the cutoff with rounds of 70-70.

Twenty-year tour veteran

Julius Boros, who won the 1967 Phoenix Open over this flat 6,509-yard course, was eliminated as he fell to a 72 Friday for 141.

John Jacobs, another of the first round leaders, was tied for second with Don January and 1965 Phoenix Open champion Rod Funseth. Jacobs had a 31-36-67 to go with a 65 for a 132 total. January shot a 33-34-67 in the second round and Funseth matched his first round 66 with a 31-35 effort.

Miller Barber, winner of this year's abbreviated Kaiser International, earned a chance at his second 1969 crown and the $20,000 first prize with a 65-70-135. He was bunched with nine pros including defending champion George Knudson and two-time phoenix Open winner Gene Littler.

Monticello Stops EH

ELLENVILLE

The absence of three Ellenville High regulars was costly as the Blue Devils dropped a 67-52 DUSA Village contest to visiting Monticello High Friday night.

The Redskins surprised by scoring only their second win of the season. They have sustained five defeats.

Ellenville, still second behind league titlist Liberty, is 4-3 in the circuit and simply was not the same ball club with three big starters—high scoring Tom Mansell, Joe Wynkoop and Al (Peanuts) Mandeville missing from the lineup.

Monticello moved to a 38-21 lead at the half and were paced by Gene Walker, who led the scoring with 25 points. John Snowden was runnerup with 15 points.

Smith was top scorer for the homesteading Blue Devils with 13 points, while Abel and Dave Baglietto contributed 10 each.

WALLKILL
Onteora Central drubbed homesteading Wallkill, 86-37, Friday night to clinch a tie for the UCAL championship in Coach Rod Patrick's first year at the helm for the Boiceville Bombers.

The victory was the 10th straight without a loss for the Indians in Ulster County Athletic League competition and the imminent champions boasts the area's best record at 15 wins and only one defeat (at Red Hook).

In line with pre-game predictions, it was no contest as Wallkill continued its ineffectual play. The Panthers are now

2-11 in the circuit and made it close only in the first quarter when OCS took a 14-11 lead. The rout started in earnest in the second period as the Indians galloped to a 39-21 half-time edge.

Second Half Rout

The second half was all Onteora, as the Indians ran away from their opponents 47-16, even though Coach Patrick again used his "bakers dozen" and everybody made his letter. Each of the 13 players used by Coach Patrick got into the scoring column. Speedy Steve Kimmel led with 17 points on 6 for 10 from the field. John Stelcen added 11 and Paul Pettinato had 10.

Hector Hita, Wallkill's lone All-UCAL candidate, scored 11 points, but had to take second place to Mike Afee who led the squad with 14 points.

The Indians racked up their hefty total with a 41 per cent shooting performance on 32 baskets in 78 tries. They were cold at the free throw line getting only 35 per cent on 17 for 47.

Need One More Win

Onteora can clinch the UCAL outright by beating New Paltz in its next outing on Thursday, Feb. 20.

Meanwhile, Rondout virtually assured itself of second place finish by trouncing Marlboro 79-67. The Ganders are now 8-2, with only two games to play. The loss left the Dukes with a 7-4 mark. In the other UCAL contest, Highland came from behind to trim Pine Bush 72-61 to run its record to four wins and six losses.

Middies Jolt KHS, 94-69

MIDDLETOWN
Middletown High's home court magic prevailed again Friday night, as the Middies overwhelmed a cold-shooting Kingston High school team, 94-69, to set up several interesting possibilities.

The win was the seventh straight home triumph for Coach Jim Brownley's squad and moved them past Kingston into second place in the DUSO League standings with a 4-2 record. Kingston is now 3-3 and 9-5 overall.

The victory was crucial to Middletown's first bid for a Section 9 berth in more than a decade. For Kingston, it was ample revenge for their marked elimination from the DUSO race and the possibility of getting shut out from the Section 9 playoff for the first time in many years.

Newburgh Academy, meanwhile moved blithely toward the DUSO pennant by crushing Port Jervis 91-44 at Port Jervis.

Two buckets by Randy Thompson winged the Middies to a 4-0 lead that established the game pattern. Kingston trailed the rest of the way, falling behind 23-12 at the quarter and 51-29 at halftime. The Middies' margin of victory over Kingston was one of the biggest in several years and per cent. Werner Koln turned in another steady game and led the Maroons with 19 points, hitting 50 per cent from the field.

The Kingston stars charted 14 rebounds, Wood had 10 and Koln nine. Matthews was also "5 for 5" from the free throw line.

Ken Gilligan collected 14 points, 10 in the first half and Gary Matthews hit 13 with four for eight from the field.

Hughes scored 14 points and Gregory added 12 in the Middies' first half blitz. The contest approached some parity in the second half but by that time the damage was done. The closest Kingston came to the Middies after the half was 15 points at 63-48.

At Port Jervis, Larry Frazier

Rondout Valley Closes In on 2nd Place

By HUGH REYNOLDS

MARLBORO
Pete Koola hit for 34 points last night to lead Rondout Valley High School to a solid 79-67 victory over Marlboro at the Duke's court.

The victory kept Rondout's slim championship hopes alive although Onteora's win over Wallkill guarantees the Indians at least a tie for the UCAL title.

The expected scoring match between Koola, who came into the league leading in average with 16.2, and Jeff Greiner, the league's leading scorer before last night with 159 points, never materialized.

Koola started slowly with six points in the first quarter as the upset-minded Marlboro took a 17-15 lead. He came back with 11 in the second quarter as the Ganders took a 34-30 lead at half time. Greiner had only four points at the half, taking but seven shots.

Marlboro, led by Dan Martuscello's nine points, put on a scoring burst in the fourth quarter but Rondout matched them point for point as Koola fired in 13 points. Greiner never did find the range, getting but one field goal in the final quarter to wind up with a total of nine points.

Rondout was never really in any trouble after the first and clogging the middle, keeping Greiner from scoring in close.

Martuscello and Dan Kurtz picked up the scoring slack for Marlboro. Martuscello led the Duke's scoring attack with 17 points, followed by Kurtz' 16. Dan Marsh chipped in with nine.

Rowe had 15 for Rondout followed by Baney's eight.

Koola's 34 point total was just one short of Greiner's season high of 35 against New Paltz and three short of the Rondout record of 37.

The Marlboro Jayvees had better luck than the varsity, edging the junior Ganders, 35-33. Rich Castrone led Marlboro with 12 points.

Rondout is now 8-2 for the season and has clinched second place. Marlboro dropped to 6-4.

The last time the two teams met, at the Rondout court, the Ganders won, 74-59. Koola also led the attack that time with 23 points.

Pine Bush contributed a combined total of 26 points.

Highland continued to improve its basketball fortunes here Friday night with an impressive 72 to 61 victory over homesteading Pine Bush in a UCAL contest.

Coach Frank Becker's Highlanders picked up their fifth win to even their league record at 5 wins and 5 losses.

Pine Bush, succumbing to the winners for the second time this season, dropped to two wins and eight losses.

Pine Bush led at halftime, 30-28, but Gary Elia's 12 points keyed a 27-12 burst which locked up the decision for the Highlanders.

Elia paced both teams with 21 points and Lee Barrington (14) and John Crawford (12) contributed a combined total of 26 points.

Pine Bush's two top guns were All-Star nominee John Caputo with 20 points and Mike Brock with 15.

In Jayvee action, Highland rapped Pine Bush, 30-17, as Robert Mattice notched 10 points.

UCCC Plays Final Home Game Tonight

CHARLIE MOORE

Ulster County Community College closes out the home phase of its 1968-69 basketball season against New Paltz State U Frosh tonight at the municipal auditorium.

Coach Mike Perry's Senators are favored to whip the Hawk yearlings and complete a perfect season at home. They are 17-4 overall and leading the Mid-Hudson Conference with a perfect slate.

Mike Derrenbacher and Charlie Moore, the former All-UCAL at Ontario Central, will be playing their last game before the home town crowd.

Derrenbacher, a stellar performer in the 1967-68 season, missed the first half of this campaign, but returned to the squad on Feb. 1 and has compiled a 12.0 average in four games with a high of 20 points against Orange. Moore has played in 16 games to date, hitting a 6.3 average. He hit his seasonal high of 21 points in the opener against Morris County of New Jersey.

UCCC has lost only one game in two years at the municipal auditorium, a 102-100 back-breaker to the late Dolly King's Manhattan CCC in the finals of the 1968 Holiday Festival tournament.

Have 6-3 Record

The State U. Frosh come to town with an unimpressive record of 3 wins and 6 losses but just off a big 78-67 win over the Quinipiac College Frosh of Connecticut.

The Hawk squad has two standout players in Earl Turner and Rich Gambrio. The team is coached by Lee Roberts, former Sullivan CCC mentor.

Uster will be looking past New Paltz to three crucial games still remaining on the Mid-Hudson Conference schedule—all road tests at Farmingdale (Long Island Aggies) next Wednesday; Rockland CCC Feb. 24 and the postponed finale with second place Westchester CCC on Monday, Feb. 24.

Meanwhile, the Region XV selections committee is scheduled to meet Monday night to name the 10-team field for the regionals Feb. 27-28 at Farmingdale.

The Aggies are automatic picks as the host team. Barring a collapse in the last three games, Uster is rated a solid pick, along with New York City, current Region XV leaders; Post Junior, Nassau and Suffolk.

Westchester, Concordia Prep, Manhattan and Fashion Institute Tech are other names being mentioned.

Ulster goes into tonight's home finale with a scoring average of 100-plus 6 points for 17 games. They have soared over the 100 mark nine times with highs of 129 against Long Island Aggies and Dominican College.

The low of 72 was against St. John's Frosh in a road contest. Jerry Moss' 36 point effort against Sullivan County raised his team leading average to 20.5 in 21 games. He has 330 points and has hit 30 or more on three different occasions.

Duvillard Wins at Hunter

HUNTER of the eligibles with 42.50 first time down the slope and was clocked in 43.50 the second time. Runnerup Herman Goellner of Vermont had runs of 43.65 and 43.28 seconds. Third place went to Garhardt Hossensberger of Vermont in 48.10.

Twenty of the top professional racers from the United States and foreign countries competed down the 1,200-foot course. Let, in the Hunter Dual Slalom for ner negotiated the two runs in a total purse of $5,000. The race 85.47 but was disqualified for was run under overcast skies missing a gate on the first run, in 31 degree temperatures.

Duvillard had the fastest time. The races were filmed for television and will be seen later this season on a 20-station network. Several of the contestants were disqualified for missing gates or falling on the course. Besides Leitner those who got the hook included Hans Swartz, Japan and two weeks of com-Willy Mottet, Pedro Klempner, including the World's Rich McManus, Hans Charnaz, Professional Ski Championships.

Sport Club Names Weber President

MORGAN HILL, Fritz Weber, one of the charter members of the Kingston Sport Club, has been elected to the presidency of the organization.

Weber, a long time supporter of the club's soccer program, was elected at the February meeting and will take office on March 1. He succeeds Alfred Mueller, who becomes junior president.

Otto Scherrieble was elected vice president and Ingo Froehlich was elected secretary. A post he has held for many years. Froehlich was also one of the original kickers in the New York State League.

Manager Robert (Bob) Graves was reelected to that post and also placed in charge of public relations.

The Kicker captured the League Division in their first year and were promoted to the crack Premier circuit. They are now involved in a hot battle for the 1968-69 championship.

Manfro Solid Pick For KBA Hall Fame

One thing can be said for sure about Charles Manfro, who is being inducted into the Kingston Bowling Association Hall of Fame on Saturday, March 22. You could generally find him where the action was.

Manfro joins the area tenpin Olympians, with probably the most impressive set of credentials outside of Johnny Ferraro, the city's all-time No. 1 bowler.

A consistent 190-average bowler for more than 20 years, Manfro three times climbed into the 200 average bracket—with a career high of 202 in the Invitational Classic in 1964. He averaged 201 in the Mid-Hudson Major at Newburgh in 1961 and had a half season over 200 in the Hudson Valley League.

He rolled career high scores of 297 and 747, posted numerous "700" triples, including three in the Hudson Valley league—716, 742 and 717. He was a member of the Jones Dairy HVL squad which rolled a 3403 against Schryver Lumber on Feb. 23, 1954, to which he contributed 682. He also rolled with the Jones Dairy team that set the all-time single game mark of 1238 in 1954.

Manfro was a member of three consecutive KBA team championships. Amoco Oil, Economy Excavation and Jones Dairy which set the all-time KBA record of 3975 which still stands.

In other KBA competition, Manfro shared the doubles title with George Shufeldt in 1955 and 1956, won the singles title with 656 and one all-events crown with 1895.

Among the 16 league championship teams Manfro bowled with were Miron Lumber and Jones Dairy in the HVL; Colonials, Amoco Oil (2); Ez-Dopools, Demico Motors, Capri Rest.; and some long forgotten names like Hotel Ulster, Progress Clothes, and others.

He gained the finals of the

CHARLES MANFRO

Hudson Valley Bowling Proprietors eliminations where he lost to Al H. Crisci, a crack Newburgh kiegler. He teamed with Frank (Tarzan) Spada for a 530 doubles set in the New York State championships and finished high in ABC doubles with Johnny Ferraro.

There were a couple of other interesting sidelights to Manfro's career. When national champion Dick Weber made an exhibition appearance in Kingston and averaged more than 240, Ferraro was the only bowler to beat him a set—724 to 709.

Manfro's Miron Lumber team in 1952 captured five out of six money sweepstakes, finishing second in the other. They won at Liberty, Middletown, Poughkeepsie, Millerton and Catskill and were second at Dover Plains.

Still active and an effective bowler, Manfro is manager at Mid-City Lanes in Kingston.

New York Dockworkers End Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Port of New York longshoremen return to work today after eight weeks on strike with a new three-year contract in their pockets, but negotiations continue at other Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports.

Longshoremen voted Friday, by 3,328 to 3,213, to accept the agreement reached on Jan. 14 by the New York Shipping Association and the International Longshoremen's Association.

The ballot was held under a federal court order secured by the National Labor Relations Board. Union officials had sought to block the vote until the others agreed to similar terms.

On the eve of the vote union leaders were urging ratification, apparently believing it would put pressure on the other ports. But William Arnett, chief negotiator for the West Coast Maritime Association in Galveston, Tex., said "A settlement in New York means only that—a settlement in New York."

Tentative agreements had already been reached in ports from Morehead City, N.C., to Puerto Rico but no breakthroughs have been reported at the larger ports.

Negotiations were set for this afternoon in Philadelphia. No definite time was decided on in Boston.

In Baltimore and Norfolk, Va., management associations presented what they called their "final offers" Friday after several weeks of intensive negotiations and said no more details were bargainable.

The 75,000-member ILA renewed its strike Dec. 20 after the expiration of an 80-day "cooling off" injunction secured by the federal government.

The longest strike in the nation's waterfront history was estimated by shipping sources to have cost the nation $15 million a day, while some other sources put the cost as high as $2 billion for the strike.

In ports from Maine to Texas, 651 ships were reported immobilized by the strike. Two hundred twelve of them were anchored in the New York area.

The contract with the 140-firm New York Shipping Association calls for a $1.60 wage-benefit package providing $4.60 an hour in the last year, an annual guarantee of 2,080 hours of employment, and a clause giving the union the right to unpack and reload certain cargo containers originating within 50 miles of the city. The old hourly wage was $3.62.

Bad Check Charge

Willie James London, 20, of 49 Jansen Road, New Paltz, was arrested Friday by State Trooper Jack Ostmark of Highland and turned over to Kingston police to face a charge of issuing a fraudulent check. He is slated to appear Monday in City Court. Authorities said the check was for $15. Ostmark made the arrest on a warrant.

Dear Abby

A 'Better Fit' Needed

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune - N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: There is an old saying, "The family that prays together, stays together." I wish they could say the same for the family the EATS together.

I've had my store-teeth for about two months, and it takes me twice as long to chew my food and get it down as it did when I had my own teeth. But nobody seems to realize it. They keep a steady conversation going at mealtime, and ask me questions, so I have to stop chewing and answer them. Well, before I know it, everybody else has finished eating and I'm about half-way thru.

Please put this in your column (but don't mention my name) so folks will be a little more patient with those of us with dentures. Thank you.

DEAR GRANDPA: You don't need patience on the part of others. You need a better fit! Go back to the dentist who made your dentures and put the bite on him for an adjustment.

DEAR ABBY: We are a group of women who belong to a club. We each take turns hosting the club in our homes. The idea of this club is for us to have an enjoyable evening away from the kiddies. We all have families, and on the nights we entertain we either get a sitter in, or have our children in bed fast asleep. Our problem: One of the girls in our club has a small child, who she purposely keeps up for this meeting. The child is darling, but a chatterbox. She monopolizes the conversation and is the center of attraction the entire time. She doesn't just make an appearance, she is allowed to stay ALL evening. How can we tell this member without hurting her feelings that her child should not be included?

SOME MEMBERS DEAR MEMBERS: If she sees this, it might not be necessary to tell her anything. But in case she doesn't, one of you "gals" ought to tell her that children should be neither seen or heard when mama entertains.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me before I lose my mind. I am 34 and Doug is 39. We have three children and a nice home, but I am BORED. Doug never wants to go anywhere. He's happy just staying at home. He never wants to have anyone in either. We have no friends. I have no family here, and neither has he.

I am a good housekeeper and a very good cook. (Even Doug says so.) I have plenty of work to do at home and don't need an outside job.

This boredom is driving me nuts. Doug says all he does is go to work and it's not driving him nuts.

Doug wasn't this way when I married him. He's also lost all his desire to make love to me, but it doesn't seem to bother him. Maybe he's ready to shrivel up and die, but I'm not. Help me. Believe it or not, I love the guy.

DEAR BORED: If Doug wasn't "that way" when you married him, obviously something has happened to him. If you love the guy, get him to a doctor. If it's physical, he can be helped. If it's mental, he can also be helped—but it may take a little longer. Whatever you do, don't continue to wallow in self-pity, seethe with resentment, and vegetate with boredom.

LOVING, BUT WEARY SOUL: I can only repeat one of my favorite quotes from Mark Twain: "It takes a friend and enemy to hurt you to the quick. The enemy to malign you—and the 'friend' to get the news to you."

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. For Abby's New booklet "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Bridge

Takeout Needs Cautious Use

By Oswald and James Jacoby
One of the modern wonder bids is the "negative" double. This is a double of an overall for take-out instead of business. We use the bid ourselves but are very careful with it when our partner has opened a minor, and we don't have both majors.

Prof. John McGervey of Western Reserve University in Cleveland would be one of our really great bridge players if he hadn't chosen to devote his life to a career in mathematics. He is still mighty good and a very tough competitor.

His two-club overall came in an international Match paid game when his side was trailing and against opponents who go all out for negative doubles. Sure enough, North did make a negative double. John's partner co-operated with Operation Monkey Wrench by raising to three clubs. South bid three hearts. We have no criticism of this bid. The negative double asks for a major suit and South had a sound opening with good distribution and four hearts.

North felt that he was in a trap but was afraid to make matters worse by bidding and it was up to South to play the hand.

John led a club. Dummy's ace won and the spade finesse lost to John's king. A second club was ruffed by declarer who led a diamond to dummy's queen and East's ace. Back came a third club and South decided to jettison his eight of spades. John overtook and led a fourth club. Dummy discarded, East ruffed with the queen of trumps and South overruffed with the ace. Then South played the jack of trumps and his last trump to dummy's king.

At this point the hand collapsed. John was able to ruff the next diamond, pull the last trump with his 10 spot and cash his last two clubs for down three. This represented a 10-IMP pickup since the other table John's North-South partners played and made a diamond part score.

Fascinating Tidbits on TV

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It has been a week of fascinating tidbits in television. For example, on the debut of ABC-TV's prime time game show, "The Generation Gap," a teen-age girl chose to answer the question: "What ocean liner just failed its trial run?" "The Pueblo!" she said. Then there was NBC-TV's one-hour special about the renowned Yiddish writer, Sholom Aleichem, on whose works "Fiddler on the Roof" was based. It was a charming program—but, of all things, it was presented on Friday night, the start of the Jewish Sabbath, when Orthodox members of the faith could not watch it.

If memory serves me, another major special of particular interest to the Jewish population—"The Investigation About the Trial of World War II Concentration Camp Executions"—was also presented on a Friday night.

NBC-TV, however, reran that play on another, more suitable day—and it would be a good idea if the network did the same with the Sholom Aleichem telecast.

Fascinating, too, was the haunting, exciting presence—and voice—of the Beatles' protegee, Mary Hopkin, as she sang "Those Were the Days" on the premiere of ABC-TV's Tom Jones series. This beautiful, talented girl was by far the highlight of the show.

Another ABC-TV debut, "What's It All About, World?", offered a smash performance by a nine-year-old girl, Bayn Johnson, who did a remarkable song-dance-and-comedy takeoff on Shirley Temple. A person it was announced that the "CBS morning news with network and Universal Studios is planning "to bring best-selling novels to television in a form faithful to the scope of the original books."

He asked Miss Johnson: "Did you like her?" and she answered: "No." In short, her coach is brilliant.

New Plans Over at NBC-TV, meanwhile, it was announced that the "CBS morning news with network and Universal Studios is planning "to bring best-selling novels to television in a form faithful to the scope of the original books."

Finally, NBC-TV announced Wednesday that British playwright Harold Pinter will be the subject of an hour "experiment in television" program April 6. He will appear on the broadcast show more of a run for its ideas and methods.

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Freeman City Hall Reporter

There's been a great deal of talk about the breakdown of communication between the city and the county on the question of a sales tax.

The city of late has taken a hard line in regards to its own tax which, without the embellishments of polite public statements boils down to "we've got ours and we're keeping it."

This hard line didn't come about overnight. As we analyze it, the stand evolved over several disappointing months beginning in February of last year when Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson announced that he was not a candidate for reelection.

The city sales tax first became a public issue when Mayor Garraghan announced on Dec. 8, 1967 that he was going to ask the Common Council for a two per cent tax.

The mayor gave three reasons at the time—the city needed the money, Gov. Rockefeller was going to jack the state sales tax one per cent and that the county might get to the money first, leaving the city out in the cold.

Garraghan's announced intentions created an immediate flurry among the city's businessmen who were "utterly opposed" to the tax. The Chamber of Commerce, a prestigious organization, joined in.

Yet, two days later, the Common Council passed the tax with all eight Democrats voting for it.

ONE MUST REMEMBER that those were the days when the mayor was in constant hot water with the Council and was still waiting for his city hall proposals to come out of committee, seven months after they were submitted.

Guys like Bob Gallo and Ed Norton were inclined to take a long hard look at any Garraghan proposal in those days and very often those looks were not friendly.

Yet, the tax, the major legislation in Garraghan's administration breezed through in 72 hours.

We think Ray convinced the aldermen that the city sales tax, in itself, would only be a temporary thing and that the county would pass its own tax in 1968, thus relieving city merchants of the disadvantage they howled about by having the tax in Kingston alone.

Ray hinted at that when he commended the aldermen who voted for his tax the next day and added that he hoped the county would now pass a sales tax and that the city and county would eventually get together to see who gets what.

Ten days later, Ray attended a regional government meeting with Pete Savago, chairman of the county legislature and said that he (Ray) expected Greene, Putnam, Dutchess and Columbia to go for sales taxes.

IN EFFECT, Ray was giving Pete the same out he hoped Pete would give him. The county legislators would be more apt to go for a county sales tax if they were convinced that neighboring counties would do the same, thus placing Ulster's merchants on a equal footing.

On Feb. 19, 1968, Ray made the first of many announcements that he would be willing to drop the city's sales tax if the county went for a two per cent tax.

Wilson quit on Feb. 26 and that bombshell destroyed any chance for a county sales tax in 1968. No one could expect Savago to sponsor sales tax legislation while he was campaigning against Clark Bell for the Assembly nomination and he certainly wasn't going to put his reputation to another test right after being soundly beaten by Bell in June of last year.

The result was that Garraghan was stuck with a two per cent tax that proved increasingly unpopular with city merchants as final sales figures for 1968 came in. This latest county proposal of one per cent does nothing to relieve Garraghan's situation.

Perhaps city officials feel they were taken down the path by the county. If so, it won't happen again. That is what this so-called lack of communication is all about. Actually, the communication is very clear. The city wants guarantees in writing, this time.

CITY BITS—We hear Lou Smith, former candidate for alderman and alderman-at-large is being treated in a New York City hospital. We hope it isn't too serious. Lou would probably like to hear from his many friends in the city.

RUMOR SQUELCHER—Oscar Newkirk, when asked if he were planning to retire as city postmaster due to failing health, "I haven't missed a day's work in eight years. Does that answer your question?"

METER MAID—Received a letter on a recent story that stated that Kingston's only meter maid was not fired by former Mayor Schwenk. The meter maid pointed out, correctly, that she terminated her city employment under Mayor Radel who terminated his city employment shortly after the meter maid.

The police commissioners gave little explanation as to why the meter maid's employment was terminated. A statement read in Aug. 18, 1961 Freeman story, "The trial period of the meter maid has sufficiently served the purpose of re-educating the public to the use of meters."

MAYOR GARRAGHAN has moved from his Fair Street home to a house on Delta Place.

The boys from WHITA must have felt a bit foolish Friday with their "Have a Heart, Rocky" signs. They wanted Rocky to reduce taxes. He's trying to do just that and catching flak from all sides. Politics is indeed a tough way to make a living.

EFFECTS OF CUTBACKS — Assemblyman H. Clark Bell appearing at Thursday night's meeting of the county legislature used this chart to illustrate the local effects of Gov. Rockefeller's proposed five per cent cutbacks and to show before and after state aid figures which produce the revenue gaps listed in the column at the right. Bell pointed out that aid to Ulster County Schools will still be increased considerably, the difference being that instead of getting a $4 million increase they will get only $3 million more. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Woman to Chair Narcotics Guidance Council

By DENNIS R. CARO

ELLENVILLE — Miss Youtha Franklin of 9 Canal Street, Ellenville was appointed chairwoman of the newly created Wawarsing Narcotics Guidance Council Friday, despite the fact that the council has yet to hold its first meeting.

"It was about time we got something going," said council member Vernon Kelder. "We couldn't even write to Albany to obtain information on what exactly it is we are supposed to be doing until we have a chairman and now we have one that will do a real top notch job for us."

Kelder, who chairs the Town Board of Assessors and heads the Ellenville Little League, said he had "too many titles already to start looking for another one." He did, however, conduct the telephone vote that resulted in Miss Franklin's selection.

He first obtained the approval of Kerhonkson Postmistress Mrs. Sue Davis and when Miss Franklin agreed to take the position she was appointed by at least a majority of the five-member council.

Keider was unable to contact Dr. Walter Sperling and the Rev. Ernest Miller of Christ Lutheran Church for their votes, but, he said "at least now we can walk into the Ellenville Village Board meeting Monday night and give them an honest answer when they ask us what we have been up to."

er Friday heartily approved of Miss Franklin's appointment and expressed confidence in her ability to do the job and to do it well.

"This council," he said, "is a good first step. 'It has to be when you have two different bodies of local government (the Town of Wawarsing and the Village of Ellenville) participating in a joint venture. I think a community is over the hurdle when it recognizes a problem like this."

"We're interested in our kids and our people. A lot of governments try to hide their heads and deny the problem exists, but it takes a pretty courageous citizenry to come out and say we have a problem and this is what we are going to do about it."

"What I like about this council is that it isn't going to be a witch hunt. We're not going to have a vigilante group that's going to go around saying 'I know who's a drug fiend and I'm going to get him.'"

"It's going to be a form of prevention and aid and in that respect I think we are fortunate in having the Renaissance Group (a narcotics rehabilitation center) right up on the hill. 'I envision the council working on prevention programs whereby our young people can gain insights in to the nature of drugs and what they can do. And I also see it as a group who may be able to provide a base for those who would like help."

"I think (Miss Franklin) has the background, the ability and most certainly the desire to get this job done. I think she's got a hard road ahead of her, but I also think she's capable of traveling it."

"She's got a real good council, people who will work with her, and I think she's going to be extremely successful."

Political Pot Boils In Dutchess Village

By LYNN MULVANEY

TIVOLI — The tiny Village of Tivoli, whom many claim is at a "standstill" has suddenly come alive—at least politically.

To date there are three candidates for mayor and there will be two or possibly three contests for trustee posts.

Originally there were but two candidates for mayor, the incumbent, S. L. George Persinger and Robert F. Severence. Late this week a third hat was thrown in the ring when Village Trustee Mortimer F. Appel made his bid known.

Both Severence and Appel are basing their campaigns on the fact that they feel the village is retrogressing and needs new blood.

Appel, who is presently circulating a petition requiring 20 signatures said, "Things have been standing still in this town for years. It's time we showed some progress."

Appel was first appointed as trustee in 1967 and was reelected for a two-year term last year. An employee of Efron Fuel Oil Company, he and his wife and two children reside at 6 Friendship Street.

Probably on the ballot for the March 18 election are the two incumbent trustees whose terms are expiring, James Lasher and William Herman although Herman has not yet said whether or not he will run again. Also seeking the same seats are two newcomers to the political arena, Robert F. Litton and Richard C. Hogan. Should Appel qualify for the mayoral candidacy, his trustee seat will also be up for grabs.

The term of another trustee, Warren Briggs does not expire,

KINGSTON

Assemblyman H. Clark Bell appeared before the Ulster County Legislature Thursday to explain the possible local repercussions of Governor Rockefeller's proposed five per cent cutback in state spending.

Bell said that although this year under the governor's proposed budget the county will receive some $3,945,000 more in state aid than it received last year, the county nevertheless will be receiving about $1,360,000 less than it expected to receive under existing mandatory statutory formulae. The dollar gap results from the governor's proposed cutbacks.

Bell said what is needed is a revision of the mandatory formulae and added that without meaningful revision, state and local governments will face a budget crisis each year and each year the crisis will become worse.

Bell said he felt formulae increases, where warranted, should be kept within the natural economic increases which result from increased economic activity in the state. The rate of increase in recent years has been running at about eight per cent.

"The county's situation is further complicated by the lack of uniformity in fiscal years. The county is geared to a calendar year, the state to a fiscal year of April through March, and the schools to a fiscal year of July through June. It appears that local budgets have been set up based upon what local units of government expected to receive from the state in local aid. Accordingly there is an overlap of three-quarters for the county and one-quarter for the schools. The school budgets are further involved because of rollback techniques previously used by the governor in balancing previous budgets by delaying state aid payments to succeeding fiscal years."

At the close of his appearance Bell recommended the County Legislature consider requesting county department heads to immediately review their respective budgets and cutback five per cent. The cutbacks could be stretched out over the remaining three quarters of the calendar year and this would actually mean a cut of some 1.7 per cent per quarter. Bell said this would be one method of allowing the county to adapt to the governor's proposed budget without increasing local real estate taxes.

Poughkeepsie Police Probing Armed Robbery, Two Burglaries

POUGHKEEPSIE — An armed robbery and burglary at two Catholic churches and a beauty parlor in this area are under investigation by city detectives and the Town of Poughkeepsie police today.

The robbery occurred at Polack's Grocery Store at Montgomery and Market Streets shortly before 8:30 p.m. Friday. Police said the store manager was in the establishment when a Negro entered and demanded money. The armed man reportedly forced the man at gunpoint to a storage area where he was ordered to remain.

Later the intruder fled with upwards of $270. Police were notified and an alarm was sent out for the suspect, who was described as being in his 20s, about 5 feet 8 inches tall and wearing a green jacket which may have been made of corduroy material.

City, State and Town police immediately set up roadblocks and guards were assigned to the Mid-Hudson bridge as search for the robber was pressed. Special patrols of troopers and deputy sheriffs covered the highways looking for the thief.

Police also are investigating a break-in at a beauty parlor on Wood Lane, where a window was smashed and about $30 in cash was taken by one or more intruders.

Halt Protest March On Wisconsin Campus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Police broke up a protest march by 2,000 University of Wisconsin students Friday night, part of the current wave of unrest on a number of the nation's college campuses.

Wisconsin's Chancellor H. Edwin Young had earlier withdrawn the 1,900 National Guardsmen from the campus and promised they would remain on standby "unless students renew campus disturbances."

Police acted alone against the marchers who were headed for the State Capitol for the third time in 24 hours. Leaders cautioned against clashes with police but used the term provocation when marchers sat down in a street intersection. There were four arrests.

Protesters received support from Negro athletes and other groups in pressing their 13 demands including establishment of a black studies center.

At Duke University in Durham, N.C., 500 guardsmen remained at the ready two miles from the campus and President Douglas M. Knight's scheduled discussion of black students' demand this afternoon was postponed.

A spokesman said the university-wide convocation was canceled at the request of the office of the state adjutant general "in order to avoid a large gathering during a time of tension on the campus."

Police used tear gas Thursday to break up a gathering of students following the occupation of the administration building by 30 Negro students protesting alleged "racist policies."

At San Francisco State College, three hecklers and the Negro director of the school's new Black studies Department were arrested Friday after they interrupted a speech by Acting President S.I. Hayakawa.

Nathan Hare, the director, led the hecklers onto the stage where Hayakawa was welcoming about 350 teachers for the spring semester which begins Monday. "Get the hell out here!" Hayakawa barked at

Hare. Laughing, Hare replied, "We're not going."

"This is a perfect example of their tactics to suppress freedom of speech," Hayakawa told the audience later during a lull in the noise. He was cheered when he pledged to keep the campus open "no matter what it takes."

Elsewhere there were these developments: Urbana, Ill.—The university of Illinois faculty disciplinary committee rejected Negro student demands that it rescind requirements against 200 students arrested in a September sit-in.

New York City—The president of City College said he agreed with the demands of a group of black and Puerto Rican students who took over the administration building for several hours Thursday but could not say yes to all of them.

Denver, Colo.—The Colorado legislature completed action on a bill making it a crime punishable by a fine up to $500 and a jail sentence of up to one year to interfere with any student seeking to attend college classes. Gov. John Love indicated he would sign the measure.

Warmth & Hospitality At Travellers Table

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

Few men travel as widely as Norman Simpson, who's known throughout the country as The Berkshire Traveller. As editor of a publication called "Country Inns and Back Roads," he seeks out wonderful old inns in such farflung locations as Maine and Michigan, and Nantucket and New Jersey.

Simpson, whose marvelous little booklets have been published twice a year for the past four years, has discovered that country inn warmth and hospitality can be found in many places, providing one has the patience to look.

In four years he has looked at big inns and little inns, at expensive and humble inns, at Colonial and Victorian inns. He has found them next to the ocean, adjacent to fine ski areas, in New England, the deep south and the mid-west. But in all these many, many adventures in discovery, he has seen fit to choose only one fine country inn in our area for inclusion in his publication.

The Arms Has It

If you have not already guessed that it was the Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck that had the key to the kind of hospitality that Simpson was seeking, more's the pity.

Since Simpson's purpose is to call attention to the virtues of American tradition and to graphically illustrate and write stories serving to link the past with the present, he long ago decided that dedicated inn-keeping is a very dramatic link. In his journeys he has found a relatively few inns that meet his standards. That he has included the Beekman Arms comes as no surprise to those who have dined there. If there are readers of TEMPO who have never crossed the bridge from Ulster into Dutchess County or driven from other parts of Dutchess to Rhinebeck to partake of the viands at the Beekman, they have missed an extraordinary experience. Indeed, anyone who lives so close to such food and ignores it is depriving himself of something that hundreds have driven miles out of their way to enjoy.

In choosing the Beekman, Simpson praises the appearance of the inn, along with the food and accommodations. Here is hospitality, he contends, that comes from within... from a sense of dedication and involvement with guests. A guest simply gets the feeling, he notes, that the Beekman seems to be saying, "We're so glad you came."

He also pays tribute to the Beekman's T. T. policy. T. T. means Travellers Table and those who are traveling alone and who dislike solitary dining, get special treatment at the Rhinebeck inn. All one has to do, if he believes that good eating is a shared experience, is to ask to be introduced to other companionless diners at the Travellers Table, and proceed to have an enjoyable time.

A Collector's Item

Simpson is so proud of his menu from the Beekman Arms that he has saved it as a souvenir. The menu lists many notable historical events, including the fact that the inn was established by William Traphagen in 1700 which leads to its proud assertion that it is the oldest inn in America. It goes on to say that it was used for several years as a shelter from Indian attacks, and was also the village church until 1731.

Thomas Jefferson visited there as well as Aaron Burr, Alexander Hamilton and George Washington. In the 19th Century, guests included Robert Fulton, Benjamin Harrison, and Horace Greeley.

The Berkshire Traveller first dined there in 1965 and is still going back again and again. He is impressed with the colonial atmosphere with low beams, old muskets, maps, deeds, wooden shovels, waitresses in Tom Jones attire, the fabled ghost on the premises, and the collection of Dr. Syntax art prints. And he is also impressed with the excellent viands and comestibles from the Bill of Fare — all special in this day and age.

If Simpson points out that most inns and restaurants gain a reputation for their evening meals, he hastens to add that the noon buffet at the Beekman is real perfection. While his favorite evening repast there is the Sweet and Pungent Pork Rice O'Brien, he can never decide at the noon buffet whether to load-up with just one of his favorite dishes, or take a little bit of everything.

A heaping plate is only one of the attractions at the Beekman Arms. Try it and find out for yourself if you haven't already.

The English language seems to be undergoing what might be called a "language explosion."

It was "From the Halls of Montezuma to the Shores of Tripoli" Saturday night at West Park's Hedges where Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League paid homage to their chaplain, the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger.

Understand back in '46 when the group was searching for a parson, it was decided to alternate every year with clergy of each denomination. But when "Padre" Shellenberger arrived, he turned out to be a man-for-all-species.

Spotted City Republican Chairman John Ray Mayone with wife, the Harold Macholdts, Detective Harold DeGraff and missus at the Hedges. Rugged Gil Gray of Doctor's Ambulance was very much in attendance, as was Joseph Naccarato of Joseph's Music Studio.

Noted a few members in uniform; wonder if Ray Mayone and Gill Gray could still "button up those Marine overcoats."

Dictionary editors are hard-pressed to keep up with it. For instance, the 1969 edition of World Book Dictionary contains 14,000 words and phrases that were not in the 1968 edition. Editors had to add 150 pages to jam in all the new words.

Main last week. According to restaurant employee, Frank Lent, who enjoyed a close-up look, "Gee, she's a doll."

Beekman Arms at Rhinebeck may not be spotting any flying saucers at the moment, but doing O.K. with galaxy of stars. Hollywood's Jackie Coogan, Rod Steiger with wife Claire Bloom and their daughter, were all seen on-the-scene there last week.

where he set officials straight as to "table contours." Subject was historical or hysterical; it's a matter of who tells the story. Couldn't help being tuned-in on powwow of young hippies at New Paltz' Barnaby's Loaf and Tankard. It didn't matter, tho'. With their menagerie-type jargon, spilling over with news about "this 'cat' who says to that 'cat' who could dig it? Our reaction to petite scraps that did sink in: "hot diggety 'chien'."

According to Guinness Book of World Records, "My Fair Lady" was the most expensive musical film ever made. But for our money, "Hello Dolly!" is "still glowin', still growin' and still goin' strong." Speaking of Dolly, Yvonne DeCarle had dinner at Eleven, same as always?"

But where do the new words come from? How could editors find 14,000 new entries? Do that many new words develop in such a short time?

It seems as though forming new words is everybody's business — the politician, the scientist, the economist, the fashion designer, the man on the street, and of course, the teen-ager.

From the Politicos

What new words or expressions have the politicians given us recently? Well, there's conspiracy of silence, which means "a conspiring to keep something wrong, damaging, etc., from being divulged."

And then there's gapisis, meaning "any conspicuous or abnormal gap, deficiency, etc." Now when you read about the credibility gap, you'll understand gapisis.

The scientist gave us endoradiosonde; the economist came up with macroeconomics and microeconomics; and the fashion designers, bless them, came up with minidress and miniskirt.

The man on the street and the voluble teen-ager gave us even more, enriching our language with slang. There's chinest, which means just sitting down and talking, saying what you mean. And there are fud, glop, and plug.

World Book Dictionary now has more than 204,000 entries, including the 14,000 added to the 1969 edition.

How Good Are You?

Here is a handful of the new words and phrases added to the World Book Dictionary for 1969. How many can you identify?

— aerial jeep, Alateen, ballhawk, beat man, beefcake, body check, brain-picking, British English, campy, car jockey, center-left, chicken colonel, cliffhang, Colonel Bogey, cutesy.

— dawn patrol, daymare, deep six, defang, didact, diploma mill, disadvantaged, dodo ball, ducky, dysphemism, earthshaker, easy money, end-run, Escoffier, eye-popper, familygram, fifth estate, file 13, flab, flappable, freedom walk, funk, ghost surgery, glass cloth, goodie, gramophile, groupthink, gucky.

— Head Start, hobbit, in-joke, inner space, instant replay, I-Thou, Jane Q. Public, jet bus, knuckleballer, lachrymist, lotus and, make-do, Medicaid, megacity, meshuga, Mitty, nebbish, NFL, nudnik, off-hour, old-shoe, ordered pair, plain-Jane.

Schlepp and Schlock

— R and R, read-in, rice Christian, roadeo, schlepp, schlock, shelia, shook-up, ski bum, slanguage, space gun, squaw winter, suitcase farmer, swing back, Synanon, telephonitis, ten-percenter, tin god, tin pants, underground film, video recorder, Vietnik, wailing wall, yoo-hoo.

Some of these words and phrases have been around for a long time, of course, as slang or argot. But now that they're in the dictionary they're official.

Immigrant Salute

When the 25th annual National Antique Show opens in the Center Rotunda of Madison Square Garden on Feb. 21, more than a million dollars worth of decorative treasures (about 5,000,000 individual items) will be on display. Among them will be a variety of nautical antiques to be exhibited by Ulster County resident, Karl Weede of Saugerties. Weede is only one of some 300 dealers, collectors, connoisseurs, artisans, artists, historical groups and museums who will participate in a show representing man's craftsmanship and gathered from 60 countries and five continents.

This year's big show salutes the 150th birthday of the first immigration law by Congress establishing rules for passenger ships just beginning to bring great waves of new settlers to America. With these settlers came their ancient techniques and arts which gave the American melting pot its flavor.

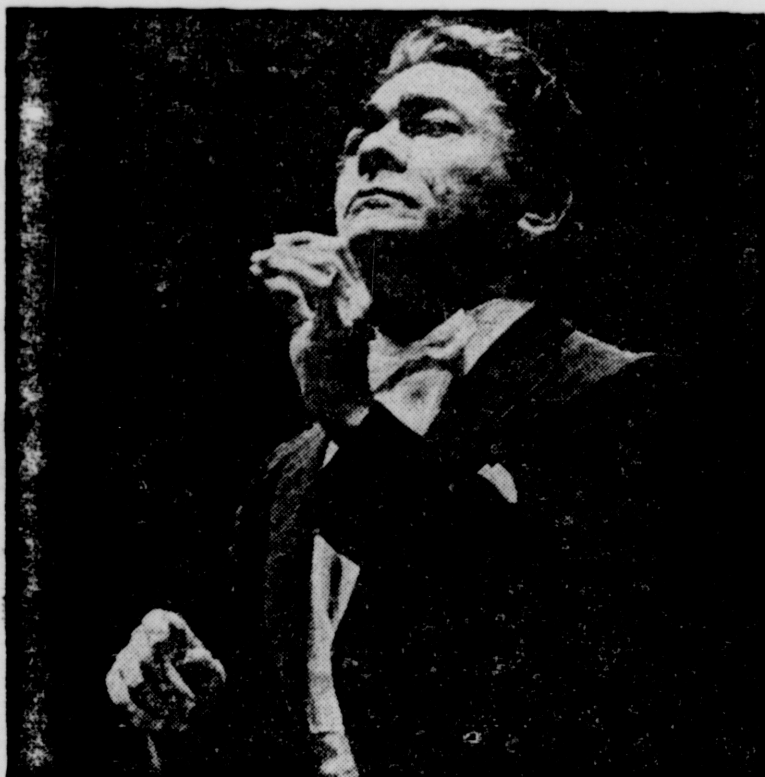

The 1969 edition of the Antiques Show runs through March 2 and those who drive down from the Catskills to see it will be treated to a historical shopping spree. Among the multitude of items on exhibit: records and music boxes, dolls, old mechanical banks, rare clocks and timepieces, buttons, outstanding forms of fine glass, porcelain, old books, paper material, prints and paintings, old maps, playing cards, miniatures and militaria. If that's not enough, there'll also be: souvenir sterling spoons, heirloom jewelry, marine antiques, old silver, enamels and ivories, posters, historical hardware, theatrical memorabilia, flasks, embroideries, antique French paperweights, costumes, rare coins, primitive and folk art.

The show will be open daily from 1 to 11 p. m. and from 1 to 7 p. m. to closing day.

17—THE KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN, FEB. 15, 1969

IZLER SOLOMON

'One of the Most Magnificent'

The Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, one of only 14 major orchestras to have been awarded the maximum challenge grant of $2½ million from the Ford Foundation, will come to Kingston for a concert next month. The midwestern musical group will be presented here by the Community Concert Association on the stage of the Community Theatre at 8:30 p. m. on Monday, March 24.

Founded in 1930, the Indianapolis Symphony has grown steadily in musical stature and national recognition, and today it is considered one of the finest and, certainly, most famous orchestras in the country. The 85-piece orchestra presents more than 100 concerts each season, with tour engagements such as the Kingston appearance accounting for more than one-third of the total.

The orchestra's efforts on behalf of young people are probably unequalled. Its Lolli-Pop series, for very tiny tots, and its Young People's Concerts and free concerts in the schools have all been highly praised.

The symphony is much in demand for tours and Kingston is fortunate to be included this season. The orchestra from Hoosierland has participated in Carnegie Hall's International Festival of Visiting Orchestras on several occasions; drew such raves from New York critics as: "Simply one of the most magnificent orchestras in the country."

Credit for the success of the orchestra goes to its conductor, Izler Solomon. Considered one of the foremost conducting talents today, he is internationally acclaimed. American-born and trained, he completes his 12th season as music director and conductor of the symphony during the 1968-69 season. During those years, he has led its musicians to their present position as members of one of the major orchestras in the U.S.

As a recording artist, he also has more than 30 albums to his credit; shuns a baton when conducting. Says Solomon: "For me, a baton seems to limit my powers of expression. Conducting is the most personal kind of leadership, and I dislike having a baton between me and the orchestra."

On the Town

Ninety-two Onteora High School art students ventured to New York City on a recent Saturday, and were enriched by experiencing the excitement of viewing contemporary art exhibits at the Guggenheim, Metropolitan, Whitney, and Modern Art Museums. Two buses filled to capacity with students of Paul deLaura (sculpture), Donald Jennings (mechanical drawing and photography), Mrs. Aletta Vett (painting) and Kenneth White (graphics) stopped first at the Guggenheim Museum where a private exhibition of paintings from the Peggy Guggenheim collection, valued at ten million dollars, was on display in the unique round building designed by Frank Lloyd Wright. The varied collection featured the lesser-known works of Picasso, Pollock, Ernst, Dali and many other 20th Century artists.

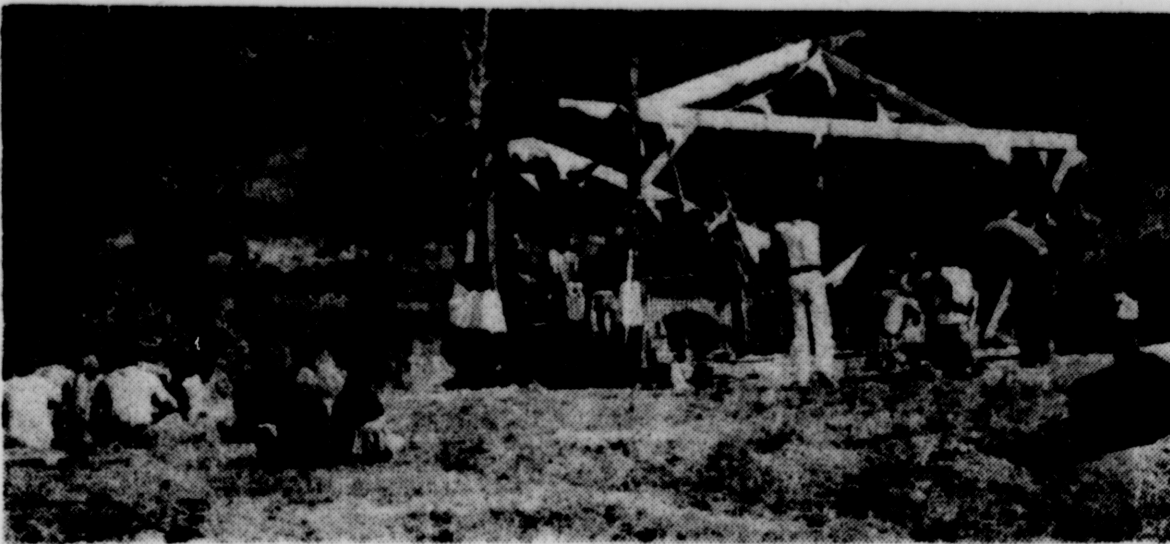

At the Metropolitan Museum of Art a special show, "Harlem On My Mind," effectively communicated the life of the American Negro with photographs, television, and sound recordings. During the two hour stay at this museum many students were also able to see exhibits of ancient art, Renaissance paintings, and many more modern art styles.

Later, the group divided, some students choosing to see the American Sculpture exhibition at the Whitney Museum and the rest seeing the Machine Art Show at the Museum of Modern Art. Both shows were favorably received, the sculpture show displaying the artists' employment of new synthetic media and the Machine Art Show entertaining all viewers with humorous as well as serious mechanical contraptions.

All the Hassle of Hotel Ownership

212: Goodbye to Catskills; Hello Provincetown Sands

COUNTRY PROPERTY (90 miles from New York City). Land and buildings for artists and intellectually alive only. Artist-owner dividing ex-resort into 12 plots up to 3 wooded acres, single family occupancy, 4 with large residence studio buildings. Generous frontage on completely private 18-acre land and 25-acre woods/park owned and shared among only 12 lots. $1-2-3,000 down, good terms.

So read the ad in the classified section of The Village Voice, the swinging weekly newspaper homebased in Greenwich Village. What it all meant, really, was that Group 212, the multi-media arts center and school between Woodstock and Saugerties, will no longer be run on the same basis as it has been in the past. Owner Bob Liikala, who bought the old Holiday Inn property on Route 212 a few years back and converted the former family resort into an "in-residence" haven for artists, writers, and musicians, is changing the school's concept.

Says Liikala: "The way we've been operating 212 has just become too much of a hassle. For me, it's been like being a landlord of a hotel."

For that reason, he has put up much of the property for sale.

Privacy and a View

What potential buyers will find is a complex of mostly wooded lots fronting on a serpentine-shaped lake and boasting plenty of privacy and an excellent view of Overlook Mountain. Prize lots offer as many as three acres of woods or tree-dotted meadow, surrounded in part by stream, lake and stone ledges. Other lots are ready for occupancy—for example, one with a four story brick building; another with a large two story lodge hall with fireplace and four room bungalow; another with a two-story stucco house and flagstone floored studio; and still another with a sprawling three-story ex-resort hotel building of 15 bedrooms, kitchen, porches and basement.

For several seasons past the privacy of the pines and the willow trees on the property, which is some three miles from Saugerties and about five miles from Woodstock, have sheltered a multitude of artistic doings. Musicians have come from all over the east to compose and play in concert there. Artists have painted the natural surroundings and traveling theatrical troupes have dropped in for varying periods of time to present plays.

When these guests were not cooling off in the spring fed swimming holes or laboring at their art, they sometimes kept things perk-ing with happenings. Among other modern-day and sometimes avant garde occurrences, 212 has been the scene of a wedding on a raft, a happening in a nearby dump, a polka dot and a paper towels paint-in, and a wham-bang Fourth of July celebration that included a parade into the waters of the lake and a spectacle in which automobiles of red, white and blue demolished themselves.

Finding the Heat

But running a multi-media arts center is apparently somewhat like unpeeling an artichoke—you're never quite sure when you've reached the heart. Liikala, who's a frequently exhibited artist and a member of the Art Department faculty of the State University of New York at New Paltz, finds himself too busy to repair canoes, keep the linen closet in shape, worry about the rent, and other landlordly duties.

He hopes however, that those who may be interested in buying the property will be

CHAS. McMILLAN SIGN on second story porch of Group 212's main building means absolutely nothing and is not even a symbol of anything. Paint-spattered clothes of 212'ers in residence last summer, however, mean much was being accomplished at painters' easels in the mini-colony, and cluttered bulletin board on first floor porch attests to activities aplenty in the art and cultural fields. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Remember When...?

Time WAS in some long ago yesterday when beautiful moonlight nights in High Falls usually resulted in a decision on the part of everybody in town to take a short skate on the local pond. Lacing up their skates and gliding on the ice, they were the very picture of turn of the century skating chic. Then it was home to leave the skates on the porch and sit in their stocking feet before the fireplace in a rocking chair. Drinking chocolate from shiny pewter mugs, they warmed themselves after their millpond excursion; then went off to bed by candlelight.

PRESENT DAY HIGH FALLERS skate, too, but the environment and attire have changed. In rehearsal clothes (L-R) Mary Lou Thomson, Rob Gannon, John Novi and Elaynr Kossuth work out on the indoor rink at the Granit for the Winter Weekend Ice Show to hold forth there this Sunday at 8:30 p. m. Produced by Venise Karageorge and Granit pro Lee Timmer, and written by John Novi, the show will revolve around historical events in High Falls — its founding, the building of the D&H Canal, the discovery of cement there, and the early Indian attacks. Go see it and wax nostalgic.

For M-W-P Show

Pick 144 Out of 660

The 32nd Annual Exhibition, Artists of Central New York, a juried show of 144 paintings, sculpture, graphic arts, and drawings, opens Sunday (Feb. 16) in the Munson-Williams-Proctor Institute Museum of Art, Utica.

Sponsored by M-W-P, and juried by William C. Palmer director of the School of Art, and Joseph S. Trovato, assistant to the director of the Museum of Art, the exhibition consists of work by artists residing within a 100-mile radius of Utica.

Works to be on display were selected from among more than 660 works entered in the competition by more than 380 artists.

Also included in the show are works by invited artists Edward Christiana, Robert Cimbalo, Francis Fiorentino, John Loy, James McDermid, and Easton Pribble, instructors at the Munson-Williams-Proctor Institute School of Art.

Works were submitted from throughout central New York; from such places as Adams Center and Albany, Canton and Cortland, Hamilton and New Baltimore, and Oneonta and Watertown. The only town from this area represented was Woodstock.

Munson-Williams-Proctor Institute will purchase approximately $2500 worth of work for its collection, Artists of Central New York. Invited works are not eligible for purchase awards.

Public sale of works in the exhibition may be arranged through the M-W-P Art Shop, which handles these sales as a public service. A list of works for sale and their prices will be posted in the Gallery.

The show will continue on view in the M-W-P Museum of Art through March 16.

Hayes for 'Airport'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The grand dame of the theater, Helen Hayes, will play a starring role in the movie version of the best-selling novel, "Airport."

Stamps in the News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Ntwsfeatures

Many months from now—Oct. 1, 1969 to be exact—the little island of Guernsey will assume responsibility for its own postal affairs and will then issue a set of attractive stamps, reports the Crown Agents "Stamp Bulletin."

Each stamp in the new set will bear a portrait of Queen Elizabeth, a vignette illustration plus portraits of previous British monarchs. For example: the half pence will carry a vignette of Castle Cornet and a portrait of Edward the Confessor. The one shilling will have a vignette of the Guernsey Seal and Queen Victoria. Other rulers scheduled for this stamp set are William I, Henry II, John, Edward III, Henry V, Elizabeth I, Charles II, George III.

Successful transplanting of human organs has become such a major phenomena in recent years that Grenada has dedicated its stamp issue commemorating the 20th anniversary of the World Health Organization to this medical achievement. The five cents green, yellow, red, blue and beige shows a kidney transplant. The 25 cents red, blue, rose and dark brown illustrates a heart transplant. A lung transplant is on the 35-center. The 50 cents orange, red, rose, black and turquoise depicts a cornea transplant. The WHO emblem appears atop each stamp.

The United Nations Postal Administration has announced that it will issue a new commemorative stamp for the U.N. Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR) on Feb. 10. The new stamp will come in two denominations, 6 cents and 13 cents.

Details of the design have not as yet been released but collectors desiring first-day covers may send their requests, together with remittances to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the U.N. Postal Administration, United Nations, New York, N.Y. 10017 prior to Feb. 10.

Hockey may be Canada's No. 1 sport, but curling advocates will argue the point. To honor curling, Canada has issued a new six cents stamp featuring game action. The Canadian Curling Assn. estimates there are half a million curlers in that country, more than 1,900 curling clubs affiliated with the association and many more nonaffiliated groups.

Luxembourg's recent Caritas (Charity) set is devoted to the aid of handicapped children. Each year this small nation issues a set of semipostals with the additional values going to a worthwhile agency which helps less fortunate people.

The Republic of Guinea has just issued a new series of stamps honoring three assassinated U.S. leaders. The set is entitled "Martyrs of Liberty" and shows portraits of John F. Kennedy, Robert F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King. There are six stamps in the set. Three are for regular postage and three airmails.

WHAT'S A GIRL GOING TO DO to get noticed on TV? Well, if you're Nancy Sinatra and you're appearing on NBC-TV on Feb. 16 in Highlights of the Ice Capades 1969, you wear far-out clothes. Among Frankie's little girl's costumes will be a mini-mink with vertical stripes of bulbs that flash on and off as she sings.

Television

This will probably come as a supreme disappointment to all fans of Here Come the Brides, but the way we heard it — all "romances" for the brothers in that series are doomed. Plans call for none of the boys to be married until the third season — if there is one. It's felt, they tell us, that by that time they'll need to open up additional story lines and a bride for one (or two or three) of the characters will do it.

A teenaged Tempo reader wants to know how to go about entering the Miss Teenage America Pageant. Any young beauty interested can find out how to enter the pageant by writing to Martin Pine Broadway, New York, N. Y., 10019.

That recent production of A Midsummer Night's Dream seen on CBS-TV was the first in a long-term relationship between the network and the Royal Shakespeare Company for an annual Shakespearean production for American viewers. According to the contract, the English acting group will only deliver a show in their repertory at the time, so they can maintain their high creative achievement. Peter Brook is directing Paul Scofield in "King Lear" as next season's production. It's being filmed in Denmark and viewers have a rare experience in store. Scofield played Lear during a RSC tour of the U.S. several years ago and gave one of the towering performances of our lifetime. As Lear, he is perfection in one of the most difficult roles ever written.

Mini-Telethon

The educational TV station in Capitaland area — Channel 17 — launches its third Membership Week mini-telethon on Feb. 17. A week-long affair, it'll begin each evening at 6 p.m.; offer a variety of gifts — including cookbooks, records, Sabatier knives and Channel 17 antennas — to people who phone in their membership pledges to the volunteer operators. Channel 17's a non-profit operation and its non-commercial growth depends on expansion of its membership among those people who like its programs and want to help it produce even better ones.

PROGRAMMING ON TV THIS PAST WEEK impressed us for the number of highly interesting shows with medical themes. We found the examination of the reasons medicine has to undergo a sweeping change in this country in order to meet the needs of the people a topic that intrigued. The discussion and debate of needed changes occurred on The David Susskind Show and featured several young radicals of medicine.

Heart Attack, the ABC special, documented such horrible statistics as "someone in the U.S. is dying from a coronary attack every quarter of a minute," but also dug enthusiastically into treatments and discoveries that are steadily cutting down the numbers of fatalities.

Somewhat medical was the N.Y.P.D. story on drug addiction, starring that most brilliant of actors who found instant success on Broadway,

THE BEATLES ARE HEARD at they sing "Eleanor Rigby" and seen as they cavort in cartoon form in a film sequence from "Yellow Submarine"—on Channel 17, Wednesday, Feb. 19 at 8 p.m. Occasion for this TV interlude with the world-famous singing group is a program called "The Film Generation on Music," part of a NET Festival series.

James Earl Jones. Jones is now playing the tour de force lead role of a heavy-weight champion in "The Great White Hope;" appeared as the director of a rehabilitation center for addicts on N.Y.P.D. Needless to say, he gave a powerful performance (especially when he blew his cool at police accusations).

There were also two excellent tuneful and tasteful musical shows on TV this week: The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour and a rerun of Herb Alpert and the Beat of the Brass.

EXPERIMENT IN TV (NBC, 4:30 p.m.). A very fine, beautifully acted drama, "Color Me German," examining the supposed prejudice-free life of Mischlings, the offspring of German-Negro wartime alliances. James Edwards stars.

CHILDREN'S LETTERS TO GOD (NBC, 8:30 p.m.). An irresistible offering combining moments of great innocent humor, poignancy and charm. Gene Kelly is the host of the show, which combines live action with animation. Among the delightful letters quoted: "Dear God: In Sunday school they told us what you do. Who does it when you're on vacation?" or "Dear God: How do mother porcupines hug their children without hurting them?" or "Dear God: Are boys better than girls? I know you are one, but try to be fair."

ICE CAPEDES OF 1969 (NBC, 9 p. m.). Let the whole family stay up and watch. Kids will love the humor, dad will like the pretty girls, and mom will delight in the dazzling costumes and the dazzling Jack Jones, who's the host. Nancy Sinatra and Louis Nye are also on hand.

Monday, Feb. 17

BOB HOPE SPECIAL (NBC, 9 p. m.). Comedian Hope in a variety hour with George Burns, Martha Raye, Bing Crosby and Diana Ross and the Supremes.

JACK BENNY SPECIAL (NBC, 10 p.m.). Musical comedy variety special with Lawrence Welk, Lucille Ball and Dan Blocker helping Jack celebrate his 39th birthday.

NET JOURNAL (Channel 17, 9 p.m.). This candid documentary traces the tragic realities of "The Battered Child" syndrome by delving into parental abuse of children.

Tuesday, Feb. 18

EEN CHRONICLE (Channel 17, 9 p.m.). Have you ever wonder whether one day you yourself might be a mental patient? The woman in "Fragile Egos," just like everyone else, never suspected it could happen—until it did. But she had the courage to allow herself to be filmed for a TV documentary. She talks about her job, her problems, and her therapy treatments.

Wednesday, Feb. 19

NET FESTIVAL (Channel 17, 8 p. m.). Featuring the Beatles in a sequence from "Yellow Submarine," a film inspired by Aaron Copland's "Fanfare for the Common Man," two animated Yugoslav films, a Danish film, and a New York Jazz Ensemble improvisation session.

Chrysalis: Out of the Cocoon

They're calling it "Spring Metamorphosis" and the big feature of the evening will be the Chrysalis. And if you think it all sounds very scientific, it's really meant to be totally entertaining.

For Metamorphosis is an evening of entertainment being sponsored by Woodstock Artists Association tonight, and Chrysalis is a most talented musical group in the modern music tradition.

Six youthful musicians and singers make up the Chrysalis group with vocalist Nancy Nairn and Spider Barbour the major movers. Also in the group are a couple of Eddies (Richmand and McDonald), Ralph Katkov and Dahoud Shaw.

Chrysalis, sometimes home-based in Woodstock, returns to the art colony following packed performances at New York City's Cafe a GoGo and the Bitter End. Last summer, the musical aggregation appeared at a Central Park concert with the famed Jefferson Airplane; drew critical reviews on a par with the San Francisco group.

Their current album, Definition, recorded on the MGM label, was heralded by major newspaper and magazine critics as one of the most exciting releases of the year by a new group. They have been mentioned by some in the same tone of awe used in speaking of the Beatles. A second album is now in the works and material from this disk will be included in the Metamorphosis tonight.

The evening's program will include the best in modern music, a light show and refreshments. Doors open at 8:30 and the welcome to spring is expected to last until 1 a.m. at the WAA gallery on the village green in Woodstock.

1969 at Tanglewood Festival

As famous as July 4 has become for firecrackers and flags, it is also a date eagerly awaited by many music fans in this area. It marks the opening day of the Boston Symphony Orchestra's 1969 Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood in nearby Lenox, Mass.

This year's opener will be a concert conducted by Erich Leinsdorf, the orchestra's music director, and will feature the young German pianist, Christoph Eschenbach, making his Tanglewood debut as soloist. The summer schedule calls for concerts each Friday at 9 p. m., Saturday at 8 p. m., and Sunday afternoons at 2:30 p. m. through Aug. 24. Friday evening concerts will be preceded by the weekend Preude at 7 p. m.

One of the highlights of the season will come Aug. 24 when Leinsdorf conducts his final concert in a lengthy career as orchestra director. For his farewell appearance, he has picked Beethoven's Ninth Symphony with soprano Beverly Sills, contralto Florence Kopleff, tenor John Alexander and bass Justino Diaz as soloists. Schoenberg's "A Survivor from Warsaw" will be the other musical presentation that evening.

Mozart Triples

Of further interest is the fact that the first two weekends of concerts this year will be performed by a chamber-sized orchestra, and that all-Mozart programs are slated July 4, 5 and 6.

Opera will come to Tanglewood in 1969 in the form of two concert performances. Leinsdorf will conduct Mozart's "The Abduction from the Seraglio" with sopranos Beverly Sills and Anne Elger on July 12. Also featured will be the tenors Jerold Siena and George Shirley (who once sang in Woodstock with the Turnau Opera Players), and bass-baritone Raymond Michalski. On July 26, Leinsdorf will be conducting Verdi's "Otello" with tenor Richard Cassily, soprano Maralin Niska and baritone Sherill Milnes as soloists.

A once-in-a-lifetime treat will come July 18, when Leinsdorf and pianist Earl Wild play the Scharwenka Piano concerto No. 1, repeating their much-acclaimed performances of last fall, when the concerto was performed by the orchestra for the first time in 55 years.

WHY WE SAY

PLENTY MONEY: We may refer to someone with an abundance of money as being "well-heeled." The allusion is to cockfighting where metal heels were attached to the birds' heels to make them more deadly.

Something in Common: Einstein and Dan Boone

THIS NEW MAN - A Discourse in Portraits. Edited by J.
 Benjamin Townsend. Smithsonian
 Institution Press, distributed by Random House. $12.50.

For readers who are history buffs, and for serious students of American history, this amounts to a salad course.

It is a printed record of the special exhibition which celebrated the opening in Washington of the National Portrait Gallery.

Its format is that of portraiture, reproduced from oil paintings, sketches, watercolors, sculptures, cartoons and photographs. Each portrait is accompanied by a brief caption summarizing the individual's significance.

The portraits are arranged in eight groups, which the organizers and editors of the exhibit and the book felt were expressions of the American character.

Expressions of Character

The section calling Americans
 "Restless and Mobile" includes explorers, frontiersmen and immigrants, ranging from Meriwether Lewis and Daniel Boone to Alexander Graham Bell and Albert Einstein. The section on "Citizen and Sovereign" groups such diverse people as Thomas Paine, Henry Cabot Lodge and Sitting Bull. The part on "Rebels and Nonconformists" brings in Aaron Burr, Henry David Thoreau and H. L. Mencken, among others. The group of "Practical" Americans includes such personalities as Benjamin Franklin and Eli Whitney.

This unusual supplement to the perusal of our history serves to remind us what a great diversity there is in our heritage.

Past Vibrations

WINDOW TO THE PAST—Exploring History Through ESP. By Hans Holzer. Doubleday. $5.95.

The idea behind this book sounds a bit fanciful, but even skeptics will find it interesting.

Under the theory of psychometry, events—particularly those involving heavy emotional impact—leaves some sort of vibrations at the scene of the happening, which remain in existence for hundreds of years. A medium can tune in on these at-the-scene vibrations and talk with the people involved in the events.

The author, who has specialized in psychic phenomena—ghosts, extrasensory perception, etc.—used several mediums, including the well-known psychic Sybil Leek, to visit certain moments in history and learn "what really happened."

For example he says he found out why Charles II dropped his mistress Nell Gwyn. Speaking through a medium, Nell herself described how the king discovered that she had a lover, and had him killed.

There are seven other excursions into the past. One in which Miss Leek was involved shows, according to Holzer, that the Vikings visited the Follins Pond area of Cape Cod.

IF YOU WERE PRESIDENT

(Channel 17, 7 p.m.). Former ambassador to Japan Edwin O. Reschauer and George Washington University political science professor Harold Hinton debate whether they would give China's Security Council seat to the Peking Regime—if they were president.

NET PLAYHOUSE (Channel 17, 8:30 p.m.). What does a family tragedy appear to be from each family member's point of view? That's the subject of the drama to be seen

'Funny Thing' Opens

Playhouse on the Hudson, at Cornwall-on-Hudson, opens its new season tonight with "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." The rip-roaring musical farce stars Richard Martin, long-time trouser with the famed Amato Opera Company, as Pseudolus, the cunning slave who keeps the action moving. His master, Here, will be played by Larry Barbieri, who returns to the area Playhouse after a six month leave of absence.

A favorite for several seasons at the Playhouse, Mel Johnson, also comes back home for this production. After performances with the New Haven Civic Ballet, he's in Cornwall to portray the nervous side kick, Hysterium. John Calvin is directing "Forum" and also playing the role of Senex, the senile Roman senator.

The production also boasts the talents of Jerry Cannonp who has sung with many light opera companies and will be seen as Miles Gloriosus in "Forum."

Playhouse regulars, Robin Douglas and Annabelle Brooks, play Philia, the virgin, and Domina, the termagent, respectively.

Equally familiar to Playhouse goers is Maureen Kell, who is handling musical direction and accompaniment for show, which has been both a Broadway hit and a movie musical.

The Playhouse is New York State's only dinner theatre (meaning playgoers can eat in their seats before curtain time by means of specially designed orchestra benches). It's now headed by Talbot A. Love, who'll operate the show house under a new format and price scale.

"Forum" will run from tonight through March 8 on Saturday evenings only. Following the musical romp onstage will be "Mary, Mary," the sparkling comedy by Jean Kerr of "Please Don't Eat the Daisies" fame. Reservations are available by calling 914-534-8823 or 914-534-8849.

'The Pink Dress' Wins an Award

THE STEFAN HIRSCH MEMORIAL AWARD, given at Manhattan's Audubon Artists Annual exhibition, went to Woodstock artist Franklin Alexander. It was the second prize in a major New York exhibit in three months for Alexander, painting instructor at the Woodstock School of Art. He received his prize from Mrs. Stefan Hirsch and Domenico Facci, Audubon Artists president, at the exhibition opening and reception recently, before a gathering of 400 invited guests. The winning painting, "The Pink Dress," is a portrait of long-time Woodstock resident and artist, Georgina Klitgaard, who posed for the work in Alexander's studio a year ago. Following its completion, it was displayed at the Woodstock Artists Association, the National Arts Festival at Washington and Jefferson College, and at New York's National Academy. In the near future, it will be on view in the gallery of The Woodstock School of Art.

WHAT TEEN-AGER'S DAY at the beach would be complete without a horn-blowing Lothario? Cristina Ferrare gives the impression there's a bit too much noise attached to swain Rich Chalet in "The Impossible Years," screen version of the Broadway comedy hit, now playing at the Rosendale Theatre. Also in the cast: David Niven, Lola Albright, Chad Everett and Ozzie Nelson.

STEVE McQUEEN and JACQUELINE BISSET in the one and only, non-frantic scene in "Bullitt," the crackling good cops and robbers thriller now playing at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema. The film invokes all the shades of Humphrey Bogart, James Cagney and Edward G. Robinson rolled into one — with a little George Raft tossed in for good measure.

Mozart's 'Requiem'

Mozart's "Requiem" will be presented Sunday, Feb. 23, at 7:30 p.m. at Fair Street Reformed Church as the initial Union Lenten Service, sponsored by Kingston Area Council of Churches.

The choir of Fair Street Church is under the direction of Percy Gazlay II, Minsiter of Music at the church. The four soloists for the "Requiem" will be Mrs. Betty Lindsay of Wurtsboro, soprano, a member of Fair Street Church choir; Mrs. Geraldine Nathan of Kingston, alto, also a member of the church choir; Nelson Burhans of West Camp, baritone, a soloist at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in West Camp and the Reformed Church in Saugerties; and John A. McCullough of Kingston, tenor soloist at Rondout Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Ann Ryland will accompany them at the organ.

The choir with soloists, under Mr. Gazlay's direction, presented the Mozart "Requiem" last year as part of the re-dedication services of the Fair Street Reformed Church organ, and the entire work was received with enthusiasm and acclaim.

The public is invited to attend.

MOVIES

The Horse in the Gray Flannel Suit

Still another comedy from the Walt Disney Studios gives us the story of a most splendid gray horse, star of a Madison Avenue advertising campaign. Eventually, this marvelous equine becomes a contestant in the Washington International Horse Show.

Dean Jones stars as an advertising executive who faces two problems: how to buy his teenage daughter the horse she longs for, and how to promote a pompous client's antacid preparation, Aspercel. In a double-barrelled solution he gets his client to buy a horse, names it Aspercel, and enters it in all the fashionable shows, with his daughter as rider.

There follows a series of winnings, with plenty of medals and ribbons. The client is exuberant at the prestige and publicity accruing to his product, and Aspercel goes on to compete in the Washington International Horse Show.

As in any Disney comedy, the characters are pleasant, and there's genial humor and a touch of romance surrounding exciting scenes of superb horsemanship. The actual championship performances at the Washington International exhibit some of the world's finest jumpers in action. But if any special honors go to this film, they should be lavished on the movie's hero, the splendidly dappled gray Aspercel.

It's recommended for General Audiences and suitable for movie-goers of all ages, and it's currently on screen at Kingston's Community Theatre.

Hellfighters

The perils of fighting oil well fires are graphically introduced in this film — which we have to rate at the very least as visually exciting. Otherwise, it's typical John Wayne fare. If you like John Wayne, of course, you'll probably find it the perfect vehicle for the big Duke of the movies.

The story revolves around Chance Buckman (Wayne), head of an oil well fire control company. He's been divorced by his wife (Vera Miles) because she can no longer endure the tensions of the dangers he must meet in those hazardous jobs that can call him to any part of the world at an hour's notice.

When Chance's daughter (Katharine Ross) marries his young assistant (Jim Hutton), she insists on accompanying her husband on his work. Such a shining example of feminine courage inspires her mother to acquire much needed fortitude.

The story is not all that good but it's secondary anyway to watching the majesty and terror of the fires, and the technical aspects of oil well control. Wayne roars his way through his role, applying direct action to everything, even tender romance, with his usual super-gusto. You can see it at Kingston's Mayfair Theatre.

Bullitt

Steve McQueen is Bullitt, a San Francisco police detective assigned to protect a Chicago mobster who's needed by politician Robert Vaughn as prime witness in an upcoming Senate crime hearing. Though Bullitt enjoys maximum security to safeguard his man, the mobster and his guard are shot by gangsters fearing exposure.

In the hospital the wounded guard is able to offer a slight clue to what happened, but the witness dies. Enter a friendly doctor, who helps Bullitt to secretly remove the body and keep the case wide open.

As the film continues to unroll currently at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema, Bullitt sets out on an investigation that leads to further murders. There's a mad, beautifully photographed car chase through the hilly sections of San Francisco that takes your breath away, and a final shoot-out at the airport that's bloody and noisy.

And in spite of nasty harassment by politician Vaughn, pressure from his superiors, and strong misgivings by his girl (Jacqueline Bisset), the cooler-than-cool, fast-moving Lt. Bullitt takes it all in easy, icy style. McQueen is absolutely perfect in the role and his faultless performance makes this film one of the finest and most crackling thrillers to come along in years and years.

Other Choices

THE IMPOSSIBLE YEARS (Now at Rosendale Theatre). David Niven, Lola Albright and Cristina Ferrare are the parents and daughter in a comedy about a teenage girl who is living proof of the generation gap. When she weds secretly and refuses to divulge the identity of her husband, problems crop up all over the place for all concerned.

INGA (Now at the Roosevelt, Hyde Park). A Swedish one with Marie Liljedahl. Only for those who lean toward Swedish ones with emphasis on what the Swedes are known for best.

THE NIGHT THEY RAIDED MINSKY'S (now at the Lyceum, Red Hook). Jason Robards, Britt Ekland, Norman Wisdom in a glimpse of a past decade's favorite pastime — burlesque.

I LOVE YOU, ALICE B. TOKLAS (Now at the Starr, Rhinebeck). Peter Sellers and Co. (including a gal with a butterfly painted on her thigh) take a stab at the hippy, yippy life. Hippies and yippies, cooks, looks, butchers, Jewish mothers, Mexican-American and conservatives should all like it since it's one of the funniest films of the year.

'YOUR SHIELD OF SECURITY'

BOOKS

Why Things Always Go Wrong

THE PETER PRINCIPLE.
By Dr. Laurence J. Peter and
Raymond Hull. Morrow. $4.95.

This odd little book is a real dandy. In its way, it tells us as much about the world we live in as "Parkinson's Law" or "Games People Play."

Dr. Peter has discovered, as the subtitle indicates, "Why Things Always Go Wrong."

As few would deny, the world is full of companies that produce lousy products or lousy services; schools that don't educate; mail that gets mixed up; bureaucrats who issue silly orders; plans that don't solve problems; executives who don't execute, and employees who bungle their work. Incompetence is universal.

Dr. Peter's principle is extremely simple. He has observed that in every organized enterprise—he uses the word "hierarchy"—"every employee tends to rise to his level of incompetence."

That is, a man may be competent as a teacher, but fail miserably when he is appointed principal of a school, where he has to be an administrator. Another man may be a very competent auto mechanic, but when he is promoted to foreman, and has to handle paper work and job assignments, he may be hopelessly muddled.

The only reason any useful work ever gets done, says Dr. Peter, is that some employees are still in jobs they are competent to fill. But as soon as they rise to a level they can't handle—sometimes it takes several steps—they cease to make any contribution, and become very unhappy.

Dr. Peter tells how to get along in the world of incompetents, how to achieve pull in the office and how to analyze your fellow workers.

All this is explained in terms of the utmost simplicity, and illustrated with many a case history.

Read this book and grow wise.

When Keaton and Garbo Reigned

THE PARADE'S GONE BY.
By Kevin Brownlow. Knopf.
$13.95.

A former director of silent films who tried to give unsolicited advice to the crew shooting "The Buster Keaton Story" in 1957 was shooed away: "Look, why don't you go away. Times have changed. You're an old man. The parade's gone by..."

So it has. But it was the kind of parade which will never lose its luster, glamor, glory and significance. The most fascinating period of any industry is its formative years. This period of American cinema, when D. W. Griffith, Charlie Chaplin, Rudolph Valentino and Greta Garbo were active, has been brilliantly captured by a 30-year-old British film technician who began collecting silent films when he was 11 years old.

What makes this book one of the most valuable on the subject is that the author energetically tracked down survivors from the era and presents what they said about their experiences. Such notables as Chaplin, Colleen Moore, Josef Von Sternberg have come out with their own books. But there are many who took as active, if not as remembered, a part in the industry and probably will never come out with their own accounts.

This is a handsome book with illustrations of rare stills and is printed on fine paper. It is a volume will worth a place in any intelligent's man's library.

RECORDS

Flavored With Old World Folk Spice

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER
NEW YORK (UPI)—Two recent arrivals on Broadway are richly flavored with the spice of old world folk music. They are "Zorba," the fantastically successful musical version of the "Zorba the Greek" movie, and "The Megilla of Itzik Manger," a hit musical from Israel.

"Zorba," is a musical gem that should find a permanent place in the theater, so that future generations may enjoy its story, songs and dances. John Kander has written a vibrating score and Fred Ebb has embellished it with sensitive lyrics. Herschel Bernardi is as convincing a "Zorba" on stage as Anthony Quinn was in the movie. Maria Karnilova is outstanding as "Hortense." All the music is good, especially "Life Is" and "I Am Free." The original cast has recorded the score (Capitol SO118).

Equally Entertaining

"The Megilla of Itzik Manger" is equally entertaining even though it lacks the box office appeal of "Zorba." For one thing the title of the musical might seem too foreign. And the songs are sung in Yiddish. But Joe Darion offers a commentary in English that makes the plot simple to follow, just as a libretto aids the opera goer.

Itzik Manger draws from the Book of Esther in the Old Testament to create his story of outwitting a Persian prime minister who tries to kick the Jews out of what is now Iran. Pesach Burstein, Mike Burstein, Lillian Lux and an outstanding chorus generate an electric atmosphere in translating this story into a musical treat. The original cast recording (Columbia OS 3270) is a fast-moving account of the proceedings and it is worth many replays.

SELECTED SINGLES—"Salt and Pepper" by Esko Affair (Mercury 72887), "Maybe Baby" by Alexander's Timeless Bloozband (Kapp K-967), "The Night They Raided Minsky's" by Frank Hubbell & The Stompers (Philips 40584), "Just a Rainbow" by The Dandy Lions (Mohawk 45-702), "Special Rider Blues" by The Insect Trust (Capitol P-2386).

Now On Tape

TAPE DECK—"Wherever You Are" by The Enoch Light Singers (Project 3 PJX 503), an Ampex tape release, is an ideal reel for those who like singing groups. Songs range from "Harper Valley P.T.A." to the classic oldie, "Dream a Little Dream of Me." "Bonfa" by Luiz Bonfa (Dot 85881), an Ampex eight-track cartridge, has the heady aura of a fine brandy, with lush arrangements of a variety of numbers, among them "Mrs. Robinson," "Love Is Blue," "Do You Know the Way to San Jose" and "The Good, The Bad and The Ugly."

Wilder to Direct

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Billy Wilder took off for London to set final production details for "The Private Life of Sherlock Holmes" which he will direct for the Mirisch company.

Local Antiques Go to Delaware

Albert Barnett Antiques, DeWitt Mills Road, Kingston, is among some 40 dealers selected to set up shop at the 17th annual Antiques Show-Sale in Dover, Delaware.

Sponsored by the Faculty Club of Wesley College in Dover, the popular show runs three days, Feb. 20, 21 and 22 from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. each day. The show will open at 11 a.m. on Thursday, Feb. 21, with Mrs. Russell Peterson, wife of the Governor of Delaware, cutting the ribbon.

For some years this show has been the largest in the State of Delaware. It will be held at the Armory, located on Dover's Capitol Green, and is being directed by George Siegert.

Exhibitors come from Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania.

Going Gourmet

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

Elsewhere in this issue of Tempo, readers will find a feature story extolling that most unusual of restaurants, the Beekman Arms at Rhinebeck. But since little was said about the actual menu of America's oldest hotel in that article, it seems appropriate to follow through in this column this week as to what the kitchen at the Arms produces in the way of hearty favorites.

The Arms is no run-of-the-apetizer-entree-dessert emporium, nor is the establishment a typical fowl and seafood-lining dispensary. Its aficionados insist it is far and away the best restaurant this side of the Mississippi, if not of the Continental Divide.

The style of cookery runs to the epicurean. Where else in this entire area would one find such appetizers as Eggs a la Russe with Caviar, Pate de foie de Strasbourg, Chilled Vichyssoise with Chives, Escargots, Baked Clams Casino and Saverin of King Crab, Diable?

The Arms master chef is partial to Ankony Farms Black Angus in the beef department and that means only the prime of Prime Ribs of Beef, Porterhouse Steak, New York Sirloin Steak and Prime Filet Mignon, smothered in mushroom caps. It also means that the chopped sirloin steak rises above the mundane with its boldly spiced, richly sauced wine mushroom dressing, and that the Beef Stroganoff with noodles, the Steak on a Stick (filet chunks with onion and green peppers), and the Steak Tartare area taste treats beyond imagination.

Over the years, such specialties as the Post Road Mixed Grill, the Sweet and Pungent Pork Rice O'Brien, and the Chicken in Wine with Mushrooms have drawn diners back again and again to the Arms. Among other stunning concoctions: French Onion Soup au Gratin—a thick savory broth loaded with a bewildering number of those splendidly spicy and tanged vegetables; Breast of Cornish Hen—tender fowl bedded down in wild rice and treated to a broiled peach topping; Fillette of Flounder—the luscious filling of this briny delight consists of crab meat, white wine sauce and chopped mushrooms.

W could, of course, go on and on, from Curry of Shrimp with rice and Major Grey's chutney to Saute Brook Trout with almond chips to Alaskan Crammeat, Imperial en Coquille. "Delicately cooked" is the only way to describe the vegetables, which are served family style, and when the Beekman Arms says its bread practically pops from the oven to your table, it means just that.

Salads run the gamut, are treated with a bold, vinegary dressing, are served crisp and cold, and appeal to appetites attuned to hearts of lettuce, cucumbers and sour cream, watercress with malabar pepper and hearts of artichoke vinegarete.

For dessert, let your taste buds be cosseted by the Blueberry Tart with Whipped Cream, Fresh Baked Apple Pie, Cream Cheese Cake, Blackberry Parfait, Baba Rum, Chocolate Bavarian Cream Eclair, Pecan Pie with Whipped Cream, Homemade Strawberry Shortcake and Old Fashioned Ice Cream Cake with Louisiana Chocolate Nut Topping.

Small wonder that, thanks to the Colonial expertise of the Beekman Arms, it's long been one of the Mid-Hudson Valley's featured attractions.

Dear Food Lovers,

Compliments make us blush, but thanks anyway! We, at the Cobblestone, are glad you like us. We try to be the restaurant that has everything — excellent food . . . delightful atmosphere . . . courteous service . . . not just SOME of the time, but ALL of the time!

Whether you order our German-American specialties, like Sauerbraten with Red Cabbage and Potato Dumpling; Schnitzel in endless variety, served with home-made Spaetzel noodles . . . or one of our 16-ounce prime sirloin steaks . . . or fresh seafood . . . we aim for perfection!

All dinners include the bonus of our famous AP-PETIZER TABLE. Just step right up, fill your plate with salads, dressings, appetizers, cheeses and hors d'oeuvres. . . AS MUCH AS YOU LIKE!

And don't forget our Famous Continental Smorgasbord, each Friday evening from 6-10 p. m. You've tasted Smorgasbord before—but never like this! Every delicacy you've dreamed of—and MORE! Visit our table again and again!

Love fine dining? Bring a hearty appetite—and leave the rest to your hosts, Rolf and Wally Allweiler.

Big Boosts for New York's Major Repertory Companies

MANHATTAN'S APA REPERTORY COMPANY is moving right along with its planned season. Openers this fall were brief return engagements of two of last season's successes, "Pantagleize" and "The Show-Off," with the latter again starring Helen Hayes (L) and the former featuring Ellis Rabb (R) as the leading performer. APA has also revived "The Cocktail Party," "The Misanthrope," and "Cock-a-Doodle Dandy," and will present "Hamlet" next month.

Will Live in Saugerties

A New Curator for Storm King

Miss Una E. Johnson, internationally-known museum curator and author, has been appointed curator of the Storm King Art Center at Cornwall. She will begin her work there in early spring, arranging exhibitions of outstanding artists of the past and present, and will be making her new home in Saugerties.

She comes to the Storm King Art Center from the Brooklyn Museum where she was curator of Prints and Drawings during her 31 years there. Her work in Brooklyn brought her acclaim as a curator who did much to further public appreciation of the modern print.

In 1947 she initiated the Brooklyn Museum National Print Exhibition as an activity to encourage, young graphic artists in the development of their work. In addition, Miss Johnson has put together a number of print exhibitions for the U.S. Information Agency for travel throughout Europe and Asia. These proved to be other examples of her activities which did much to aid the establishment of international recognition of the excellence of 20th Century American prints.

Educated at the University of Chicago and Western Reserve University, she served on the staff of the Cleveland Museum of Art before joining the Brooklyn Museum in 1937.

She has written many books and definitive catalogues, including "Ambroise Vollard, Editeur," "George Peterdi, 25 Years of His Prints," "Georges Rouault and His Prints," and "20th Century Master Drawings."

Among her awards are the Rockefeller Grant for research on international 20th Century Prints (1957); Ford Foundation Grant from its Program in the Arts and Humanities for a series of monographs on 10 living American graphic artists (1960), being carried out under the auspices of The Brooklyn Museum.

Miss Johnson is a member of the Board of Directors of Pratt Center for Contemporary Printmaking, Print Council of America, Jury for Selection for International Graphic Arts Society and the Drawing Society of New York.

She has throughout the years, juried innumerable print and drawing competitions throughout the United States. The Storm King Art Center is open to the public daily, except Mondays, from 2 to 5 p.m., May 1 through October of each year.

Trio of Winners

Three prize winners were picked for their talent in handling color slide work and the lenses of their cameras at the most recent meeting of the Kingston Camera Club.

The session, held at Artcraft Studio here, saw the following named for prizes in a 35 mm color slide contest:

First prize — "Green Sentinels" by Mrs. Mary Patryk; second prize — "Dew Drops on Red" by Gene Patryk; and third prize — "All Hands on Deck" by Mrs. Martha Cole.

UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—There are some welcome signs that things just might be looking up for New York's two major stage repertory enterprises.

First, there is the selection of Robert Montgomery as the new president of the board of the Repertory Theater of Lincoln Center.

Second, the APA Repertory Company at the Lyceum Theater is not as bad off financially as it appeared to be some weeks ago, and the full season's program of four productions is now assured.

It has been no secret from the beginning of the Lincoln Center operation six years ago that ranking high in the many problems of getting such an ambitious operation off the ground was the fact that the ruling board was made up of men who had little working knowledge of the theater.

Montgomery, long time major film star, a stage director and producer, a television production pioneer in the drama field, knows show business. He is smart, he has class, he is independently wealthy (the new post pays nothing) and he will know how best to back up, financially and otherwise, the efforts of Jules Irving, who supervises the company's productions.

Irving, incidentally, received an extension of his contract from 1970 through July 31, 1972, which also is a good thing, even if you may not like everything he put on. This sort of enterprise takes patience and time. Lincoln Center lost three producers in its first four seasons. It's a wonder the repertory venture survived.

Montgomery's immediate and major task will be to find more money to help erase the deficits that annually afflict any repertory operation. It is not possible for this type of theater to be self-supporting, and the one in Lincoln Center is an especially costly affair. If anyone can do this, Montgomery can. Besides, he has the artistic experience to help Irving solve production problems.

The APA's major problem has been money from its shoestring beginning nine years ago. It always had good artistic guidance of continuity and with no outside interference.

The financial angle eased a bit when it allied with T. Edward Hambleton's Phoenix Theater group three seasons ago and moved from off Broadway into the Lyceum Theater. There was a good subscription response, growing each season, and various foundations and even the federal government came through with subsidies.

But things turned dark early this season when a congressional budget cut in appropriations for the arts forced the National Endowment Fund to renege on an expected $250,000 grant. The APA decided that the current season would have to be cut back to three productions.

However, a strenuous campaign for public support quickly brought in $100,000 in donations. Mayor John V. Lindsay cajoled various industries and cultural leaders to kick in with $50,000, the Ford Foundation came through with its second-year grant of $300,000, which had to be and was matched from other sources, and a touring company of the APA production of "The Show-Off," with Helen Hayes, hit the box office jackpot with a 14-week profit of $240,000.

So, now APA will be able to do a fourth production at the Lyceum, its unusual interpretation of "Hamlet," which it tried out successfully on tour last summer. This will open March 3, with Ellis Rabb, the company's artistic director, in the title role.

The recently opened third production, following T.S. Eliot's "The Cocktail Party" and the still current and excellent version of Moliere's "The Misanthrope," is a very worthy presentation of Sean O'Casey's "Cock-a-Doodle Dandy."

Woodwinds at Paltz

Concert by Quintet

The New Paltz Faculty Woodwind Quintet will present its first concert of the season Monday evening, Feb. 17, at 8:30 in the State University College McKenna Theater and will feature works by Paul Hindemith, Irving Fine, Joseph Haydn and Franz Danzi.

The ensemble is comprised of three faculty members and two artists from the United States Military Academy Band: bassoonist John Rahn, formerly a member of the American Symphony of New York and now with the Academy band, and flutist Carl Adams, a former Military Academy band member who is presently teaching in the Monroe school system.

Faculty members of the Quintet, formed last spring, are clarinetist Peter Alexander, oboist Martin Sperber, and William J. McCann, French horn.

The recital is open to the public without charge.

The program will consist of two major 20th century works: "Kleine Kammermusik" by Hindemith, one of the most popular works in the quintet literature, and the "Partita for Woodwind Quintet" by American composer Fine.

The evening will begin with a "Divertimento for Winds" by Joseph Haydn, and will include a work by Danzi, a Mozart contemporary.

Two From Vassar In Poetry Book

A Vassar College faculty Award of the Kansas City member, Nancy Willard (Mrs. Eric Lindbloom, and a student, Ethel Livingston, are represented in a new book, "31 New American Poets," just published by Hill and Wang, Inc., New York City.

Seven of Mrs. Lindbloom's poems are included in the anthology. An assistant professor of English at Vassar, she holds the M.A. degree from Stanford University and the B.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Michigan, where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Her poetry has been widely published and has been collected in two books, "Skin of Grace," which won the 1968 Devins Memorial Miss Livingston, a senior at Vassar and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Livingston of Savannah, Georgia, spent a summer at the Aspen (Colorado) Poetry-Prose Workshop, where her poem "Unending sameness of questionable quality" was published. She has studied at Vassar under the well-known poet Denise Levertov, and is doing a senior thesis in creative writing. She is co-editor of the Vassar Review, the student literary magazine.

EARL CROSS shows he's a mighty talented man when it comes to blowing a horn. Two at one time looks easy when Cross puckers up in modern music style. He is one of the many musicians who have found Group 212's surrounding conducive to composing and musical meditation. (Photo by Mike Sullivan) artistic souls who love nature and respect another man's privacy. If cooperative neighbors can be assembled, he sees a chance to preserve what was begun at 212.

As for 212 itself, things will be different in the future. Far from becoming extinct, it will simply take to the road. There may be years when 212 participants will again settle down to a summer in its old bailiwick, but the trend will be to go each year to a new environment. First stop envisioned for the 1969 season is a summer of living in tents on the sand dunes at Provincetown. On the ocean front, then, the modern music concerts that began locally will be continued; film makers will experiment; actors will emote, poets will read aloud and artists will paint at their easels.

About the Cover

Tempo's cover photograph this week comes from the personal files of Paul Sturges; seems particularly appropriate to us in view of the still visible signs of Sunday's staggering snowstorm.

Stone Ridger Sturges authored the wrong-way stalactites—which remind us of nothing so much as a forest of icicle trees and shrubs—some years ago in a Stone Ridge yard. In an experiment which he refers to as "a pie in the sky essay in physics," he staged a try at bringing a polar ice cap to the temperate latitudes. Later, he managed to pull off the same stunt inside an area ice cave.

If he thinks of his man made landscapes as "naive try-outs," they were successful enough to create a skating rink left over from winter for a few hearty souls one summer. . . and to refrigerate a large amount of sweet corn in August by means of last winter's ice.

For the future, Sturges and Co. hope to try further experiments in physics in an area ravine, conveniently located between two large bodies of water. By working with turbines, boiling water and pure ice, they'll attempt to make electricity erupt in the Catskills. If it works, maybe photographer Milt Wagenfahr, who took this week's cover picture, will get another essay on film for a future Tempo.
